Frank's Lawyers Hear Confession Witnesses Now Repudiate Stories

Attorneys Give Out Statement in Which They Declare That They Believed Ragsdale and Barber Were Telling the Truth.

SHOW HOW AFFIDAVITS WERE SECURED BY THEM

"If These Rumors Be True, We Denounce the Perfidy of These Men With All the Vehemence of Our Natures," They Say in Card.

The report current in Atlanta yesterday that Rev. C. B. Ragsdale, the minister who accuses Jim Conley of having confessed to Mary Phagan's murder, and that R. L. Barber, the member of Ragsdale's flock, who corroborated the pastor's story, had repudiated their stories, and had branded them as "frame-ups" last night, resulted in a sensational statement to The Constitution from Frank's counsel.

His attorneys also presented affidavits from Dr. J. M. Pierce and John E. White, who had vouched to Frank's defense for the character of Ragsdale, and similar affidavits from George E. Knott, who had testified to the character of Barber.

Rumors were persistent on Monday that there would be startling developments in the Ragsdale and Barber affidavits, but Solicitor Dorsey absolutely refused to discuss the matter, declaring that all developments would be made public on Friday. When the card of Frank's lawyers was furnished The Constitution it was so late at night that it was impossible to reach either Rev. Mr. Ragsdale or Mr. Barber for a statement.

Frank's counsel's statement follows:

Frank's Lawyers' Statement.

Editor Constitution: On Thursday, April 23, 1914, there appeared at the office of L. Z. Rosser, in the Grant building, two men who professed to have important information in reference to the Frank trial. One of these represented himself to be a preacher and the other a former member of his flock.

These two men were unknown to each of us. Neither of us had ever seen or heard of them before.

L. Z. Rosser acted in taking the affidavits of these men. He put them to the test of the most thorough cross-examination of which he was capable. There was no effort to lead them, to add to or color their story. On the contrary, they were given clearly to understand that Frank's counsel wanted only the truth, and in taking their affidavits we were seeking nothing beyond just what they knew and knew accurately.

The affidavits were prepared in their presence, almost their very words being taken by a competent and honest stenographer. After the affidavits had been typewritten they were carefully read to each of the witnesses and sworn to before a disinterested notary public.

Did Not Dream of Wrong.

Neither one of us dreamed that they were acting corruptly, but believed that they were acting from pure motives to correct the wrong of their former silence.

They were asked to give the names of their friends and associates, as the law requires. They gave promptly some of the most correct and upright men in the city of Atlanta.

Some of these men were promptly seen in an effort to determine whether these men were what they seemed and represented themselves to be.

The result was in keeping with their claims. Some of the best men in Atlanta vouched for them and we felt justified in presenting their story to the court.

It has come to our ears this evening that both these men now recant and claim they framed up their story.

Will Denounce Perfidy.

If these rumors be true, we denounce the perfidy of these men with all the vehemence of our natures.

In this Frank case we have never wanted anything but the truth, have never made use of anything but what was believed to be the truth.

We have believed and now profoundly believe in Frank's innocence, but even that conviction has never induced us to say one word that the whole city of Atlanta could not hear, nor to do anything that the whole state of Georgia could not see.

If these rumors are true we will at once cut these perjured witnesses out of this case, just as we have in the past, and just as we will in the future every fact and circumstance that even squints at unfairness or perjury.

In proof that we did not act even credulously and inadvisedly in this matter we send you herewith copies of affidavits of men who vouch for the character of these men.

Conductor—Richard Hageman.

By Sidney Ormond.

Massenet's "Manon," most delicate and exquisite of operas, reeking of the picturesque eighteenth century, redolent of the pain and anguish which is ever the accompaniment of illicit love, was the magnet which, it almost seemed, drew all Georgia and a large part of the southern states to the Auditorium last night and ushered in the fifth year of metropolitan grand opera in Atlanta.

It was, many claimed, the largest opening night audience which has heard grand opera in Atlanta; which is another way of saying that it was the largest opening night audience that ever heard grand opera anywhere, for Atlanta holds the world's record for grand opera attendance.

All Georgia Here.

As one stood in the lobby and watched the crowd file in, he found himself bowing to people from all parts of the state—people he had not seen in years. There were folk from Savananh, from Athens, from Macon, from Augusta, from Valdosta, from Cartersville, from Gainesville, from Rome—from every city and town and crossroads in the state. Well dressed, prosperous people, all of them—people to whom opera is no longer a novelty, but, from a cultural standpoint, a necessity, something to be missed under no circumstances. And it was not an audience which went for the purpose of seeing or being seen. It was composed of people who have studied and improved their musical taste, people to whom the finer shades of opera have a definite meaning. It was an audience that discussed Massenet's music between acts and discussed it with discrimination—compared the "Manon" of Massenet to the "Manon" of Puccini and argued the points of difference intelligently.

Withal, it was a gathering which bespoke volumes for the culture of Atlanta and of the south.

Enormous Crowd Gathers.

Long before 8 o'clock, when the curtain was scheduled to go up, Peachtree street was choked from curb to curb with machines of every known variety and make. The noise was that of bedlam broke loose and hell bent! Horns honked hoarsely, whistles blew, sirens shrieked, bells tinkled and loud voices commanded folk to stand aside. The stream of automobiles seemed interminable. One wondered if there was a man in all this wide city who did not own one. It seemed that there was an automobile for every man, woman and child listed in the city directory. On and on they came, finally emptying their loads of gaily-dressed women and correctly garbed men at the Auditorium.

The interior of the Auditorium presented a typical first-night appearance. If you have ever been to grand opera that statement conveys a definite idea to your mind. If you have never attended grand opera at the Auditorium no amount of description would serve to picture the scene at all adequately.

The audience, with its thousands of beautiful women dressed in stunning gowns of all imaginable hues, looked from a distance like some wonderful

THEY SING AT OPERA TODAY

Top row: Johanna Gadski and Pasquale Amato. Bottom: Riccardo Martin. They will sing in "Trovatore" this afternoon.

If You Went to Grady

Don't imagine that Grady's inefficiency can never affect you personally because you can pay for treatment in a private hospital. Tomorrow should you be injured so that you were not recognized, or could not speak, you would land at the Grady hospital and become the victim of conditions worse than Charles Dickens ever described. There are thousands of people in Atlanta just as good as you who can never hope to escape these conditions should emergency arise while they exist.

Ceilings are falling, floors are worn out, foundations are sinking, meals are being cooked in quarters in which hog food would not be prepared on many Georgia farms. Halls, aisles and porches are all crowded with occupied cots. White nurses sleep ten in a room, colored nurses sleep in the loft over the ambulance barn; all are striving to care for double the number of patients allowed in any other city hospital in the civilized world.

Atlanta is exceptionally provided with expensive private hospitals. It has but one refuge upon which any citizen without distinction or price may depend. The poor, the humble, the average citizen has a right to this public service. You have a right to demand at public expense every scientific advantage which wealth may secure in private institutions.

Your vote for hospital bonds in the coming election is the remedy. A bond issue is your protection should misfortune call, "Your turn next."

ATHENS BANK PLACED IN EXAMINER'S HANDS

$27,000 Shortage Reported in Citizens' Bank and Trust Company.

Athens, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—At 2 o'clock this morning the stockholders of the Citizens' Bank and Trust company, announced that the institution will be placed in the hands of a state bank examiner immediately. They state depositors and other creditors will be paid in full.

There is a shortage, it is said, of $27,000. Further examination may determine when and how the shortage occurred.

The bank is about seven years old. W. H. Shelton is president, R. W. Woods, cashier. The capital stock is $50,000.

MEXICAN-AMERICANS FOR WILSON'S STAND

San Antonio, Texas, April 27.—Unqualified indorsement of President's Wilson's stand in the present crisis is contained in a telegram sent him from here today and signed by fifty Mexicans, citizens of the United States, residing in San Antonio. They offer their personal service in the even war is waged against Huerta. The text of the telegram follows:

"We, the undersigned Texas-Mexican Americans approve your patriotic stand against Huerta, and offer you our personal service in the present conflict and insist that the Stars and Stripes must be respected; otherwise we are ready to sacrifice our lives for the honor and dignity of our country."

SHERIFF OF FLOYD SHOOTS OPPONENT ON ELECTION EVE

Deputy Sheriff G. W. Smith, on Rival Political Ticket, Is Critically Wounded by W. G. Dunehoo.

Rome, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—As the result of a personal encounter due to political differences, Sheriff W. G. Dunehoo, of Floyd county, tonight shot through the intestines Deputy Sheriff G. W. Smith, who is at a local hospital in a critical condition. Dunehoo was immediately taken into custody by Coroner John Miller, and his son, Henry Dunehoo, who is said to have taken part in the affair, is also under arrest.

Dunehoo was a candidate for re-election, and Smith was on the opposing ticket, headed by J. R. Barron, another deputy. Smith had issued a postcard to the voters discussing points of the campaign which ends in the primary tiomorrow.

Card Causes Trouble.

Dunehoo interpreted portions of the card, as he termed it, "a blow below the belt." When the two men met at the jail this afternoon a dispute arose, the lie was passed, and Smith knocked Dunehoo down. The younger Dunehoo then took a hand in the affair, and Smith ran or was thrown from the jail and fled to the rear of the jail yard. There were several eye-witnesses, whose accounts differ in important particulars, but according to the best information, Smith slammed shut a gate in the jail fence in the face of Dunehoo, who was pursuing him. Dunehoo shot through the gate and the bullet passed through the gate and into Smith's body, making four perforations in his intestines. Smith also has a deep gash in the back of the head. Dunehoo has an abrasion of the scalp, a badly swollen eye and scratches about the ear.

Claims Self-Defense.

The sheriff says he shot in self-defense after the deputy had attempted to shoot him. The friends of the wounded man claim that the two Dunehoos attacked him.

The affair created tremendous excitement here and will prove a factor in tomorrow's primary. At a late hour tonight hundreds of men are gathered in the streets in front of the jail and the hospital where Smith and Dunehoo are. There has been some talk of violence, but officers seem to have the situation well in hand, andno trouble is anticipated.

Acceptance by Dictator Creates a Distinct Hope That War May Be Averted

All Latin-America and Great Powers of Europe Brought Pressure on Huerta — Understood That United States Will Insist on Huerta's Elimination.

Washington, April 27.—Formal acceptance by the Huerta government of the offer of Argentina, Brazil and Chile to use their good offices to bring about an amicable settlement of difficulty between the United States and Mexico was cabled to Spanish Ambassador Riano here tonight by Portillo y Rojas, foreign minister in the Huerta cabinet.

Senor Rojas' note was transmitted at once to the three South American diplomats, who began a conference which lasted far into the night discussing the next move in their peace plan. Secretary of State Bryan having accepted the offer of good offices when tendered the United States Saturday, the first step now is completed and the way paved for actual negotiations looking to a peaceful clearing up of the situation.

Neither Ambassador Riano nor the peace envoys would make public the text of the Huerta acceptance. It was said, however, that Senor Rojas replied briefly, accepting the offer and thanking the South American plenipotentiaries and the Spanish ambassador for their good offices, with a reference to "the real spirit of solidarity between peoples of a same race."

NO CONDITIONS IN GOOD OFFICES.

No conditions are imposed in an offer of good offices, consequently the reply from Mexico City was not expected to deal with conditions. That stage will be reached when the peace makers formulate their plans and make known how they propose to use the good offices which have been accepted. It was suggested tonight that they probably would ask the Washington and Mexico City governments tomorrow for statements as to what each would demand in the event formal mediation were undertaken, and that upon the nature of the responses to this request would depend the proposals next to be submitted.

Unofficial advices from Mexico City already had made it virtually certain that General Huerta would accept the offer of the peace envoys, but the formal announcement tonight tended to further relieve the slackening tension of the crisis. The news was given to President Wilson, who expressed himself as greatly pleased, though he would make no further comment.

White house officials let if be known that they were earnestly desirous of aiding the South American diplomats

HARRIS SOUNDING STATE COMMITTEE

Chairman Proposes Another Meeting to Change Rules in View of Many Candidates.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, April 27.—(Special.)—William J. Harris, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, has written to all the members of the committee suggesting another meeting to take further action in view of the large number of candidates in the race for governor and senator.

When the committee meets, if Mr. Harris is still in the race for governor, as he expects to be, he will tender his resignation as member and will not take part in its proceedings. The possibility of the governor and senator being named in the next state convention instead of by the people at the ballot box is something that Mr. Harris believes the committee should seriously consider. Heretofore when there have been only two or three candidates the situation was different from that presented by the present contest in which there are eight or ten applicants.

For Second Primary.

In speaking of the matter tonight, Mr. Harris said that in South Carolina, Alabama and some other states a second primary is held, in which the two highest candidates in the first primary run again. This insures the fact that the successful man will be the choice of a majority of the people.

"I think at this time when the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad is to be renewed it is most important that the governor should be the choice of the people rather than the choice of a convention," said Mr. Harris. "Laws can be changed at any time, and even a constitutional amendment can be submitted by any legislature, but a contract entered into for the lease of the state road will hold for twenty-five years. These funds go to the state schools.

"Since the state convention will be made up of friends of the governor, he will have too much power in the selection of a senator. I have no plan to propose to the committee, but I only suggest that they meet again to consider these facts.

Wants Majority to Rule.

"I am in somewhat of an embarrassing position in this matter in view of my own prospective candidacy, but I felt it my duty to do so, as I believe the party would be hurt if in this day of popular elections a man should be chosen for governor by the convention who was not acceptable to a majority of the people.

"Of course, a proposal that the majority should elect cannot be said to be in the interest of any candidate.

"I have no plan of my own, and either the county unit plan or some other that would insure a majority vote electing the governor will be acceptable to me. I have asked the committee to state their wishes about another meeting and the date it should be held."

and that no announcements as to points that would be insisted upon by the United States would be made or anything else done at this time which might embarrass their efforts.

Throughout official and diplomatic circles the belief was expressed that success of the peacemakers so far necessarily would have a favorable effect upon the situation; that even though their efforts ultimatley failed, indirect diplomatic communication between the United States and the Huerta government has been restored temporarily and the chance of a better understanding greatly improved.

CAUSED FEELING OF DISTINCT HOPE.

The success of the first steps toward mediation—the prompt acceptance by the United States and the announcement of the Spanish ambassador that Huerta had accepted the tender of good offices—produced a feeling of distinct hope which was reflected not only in administration quarters, but in congress, where "war talk" gave way to a spirit of conciliation.

Throughout the day the three South American envoys who have undertaken the task of mediation held frequent conferences to arrange the preliminaries of procedure.

Pressure from Germany, Great Britain and France advising Huerta to accept the first steps toward mediation and the approving attitude of Latin-American countries to the settlement of the controversy by pan-American diplomacy emphasized the world-wide influences which are working to bring about peace.

Meanwhile the navy and war departments are continuing their efforts to care for refugees and perfecting the machinery of the army and navy for any unexpected turn in events.

Secretary Daniels announced he had telegraphed the full text of the mediation offer and its acceptance by the United States to both Rear Admirals Badger and Howard, with instructions to have the commanders of all ships on the east and west coasts spread the news throughout Mexico. By this Mr. Daniels hopes the feeling toward Americans may be alleviated and refugees enabled to depart without molestation.

Advices received through the British embassy told of the completion of arrangements for the safe departure of Americans from Mexico City, while the French ambassador gave the state department a message he had received from the French legation stating that while there had been some anti-American manifestations in the Mexican capital, order now prevailed.

NO AMERICANS KILLED OR INJURED.

Secretary Bryan said he was able, after receiving information through embassies and legations, to say that no American had been killed or injured since the crisis of the last two weeks began, and that, though many had been detained at Aguas Calientes, Cordoba, Orizaba, efforts were now being made to obtain their release.

Order prevails in Vera Cruz. Brigadier General Funston and the army is expected to be in command of the situation tomorrow. Expeditionary forces of marines have been detached from the command of Admiral Fletcher, who will return in a few days to the fleet with the marine guards.

"Things look very much better now," said Secretary Daniels during the day. "We are getting Americans out of Mexico. That is the important thing now."

Consul Canada reported that a formal raising of the American flag occurred at Vera Cruz at 4 o'clock this afternoon with impressive ceremonies.

Secretary Bryan announced that the president's recent address to congress and with full text of the correspondence between Argentina, Brazil and Chile had now reached all Central and South American capitals, and that had it gotten to Montevideo, Uruguay, earlier, the anti-American demonstration there would have been averted.

"The concensus of opinion in Latin-America," said a statement from the Pan-American union here tonight, "seems to be that this action of Argentina, Brazil and Chile is in many respects the most significant and far-reaching event in the history of the American republics since the declaration of the Monroe doctrine, and it is hoped that the press and people of the United States will try to curb the rising war spirit and give the mediating nations strong moral support in their efforts for peace."

WILSON RESOLVED HUERTA MUST GO.

While Secretary Bryan and government officials expressed a disinclination to discuss the mediation plan during its present stage, they said it had reached the point of actual "proposals." The American government simply has expressed formally its willingness to listen to any plan of intermediation which the representatives of Argentina, Brazil and Chile may formulate. Huerta informally has shown his readiness to lend a listening ear to the peace plans of the South American envoys. When formal acceptance comes from Huerta, formal proposals will be made simultaneously to the American government and the Huerta administration.

The attitude of the administration long has been established that the elimination of Huerta was an essential to any final settlement of the Mexican problem. This view was reiterated as recently as Saturday at the white house, when senators and representatives were consulted as to the proposal of good offices. But, while maintaining this view as to what would ultimately be essential to a real settlement, there has been no formal submission of such a condition to the envoys now entrusted with the work of conciliation.

While the Latin-American envoys bent their energies today toward negotiations for peace, the war and navy departments directed their activities toward bringing Americans out of Mexico and to the transfer of the situation at Vera Cruz from the navy to the army with the arrival tonight of Brigadier General Funston and his army brigade.

REASSURING NEWS AS TO REFUGEES.

Throughout the day, in consular dispatches to the state department and in reports from the naval commanders in Mexican waters, came reassuring messages as to American refugees. Arrangements were completed for getting all Americans out of Mexico City, and Admiral Badger, from Vera Cruz, reported plans for resuming train service between Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Refugees were reported safe at Tampico, Puerto Mexico and other east coast points. Arrangements are being made to get them to Galveston. Admiral Howard, on the west coast, reported the Monitor Cheyenne on the way to San Diego with refugees from Ensenada.

Partial lists of Americans held at Aguas Calientes were forwarded by Consul Canada at Vera Cruz, but he was unable to give any information as to those held at Orizaba. The Japanese ambassador, at a conference with Secretary Bryan, secured permission for Japanese leaving Mexico to take refuge in the United States, although this will necessitate a suspension of the immigration laws. Refugees from the east coast continued to reach Vera Cruz in various vessels.

War talk in congress was supplanted by a spirit of conciliation pending the mediation negotiations with Mexico. There were surface outbreaks in the house, mostly along political lines, but the undercurrent of gossip which last week had grown into a formidable sentiment that the president should adopt extreme measures, almost disappeared during the day's session of the house.

The prevailing sentiment at the capitol today was that the president should have full opportunity to work out the mediation program.

The Mexican discussion in the house took a wide range. Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, arraigned Consuls General Canada and Hanna for making what he said were exaggerated official reports of occurrences in Mexico, calculated to inflame public sentiment.

Cupid, Aided by Press Agent, Engineers a Double Marriage Despite Efforts of Police

Every detective at police headquarters and every kind of parental wrath proved ineffective against the skill of Cupid's stage director, Harry G. McCay, who is also employed by Cupid in the capacity of press agent and field superintendent.

McCay, while not engaged in operating in behalf of love and matrimony, is the head steward in a leading downtown hotel. He is an intimate chum of Pat Rosser Shields, of 257 Fulton street, and Dora Bridwell, 31 East Harris street. Pat and Dora had been in love for these past seven years, but their parents would not permit their marriage.

On the other hand, Ed Allen, who is a friend of Shields, wanted to marry pretty Lucy Walton, who is a close friend of the girl whom Pat wanted to wed. And McCay, Cupid's field agent, was the friend of the whole bunch. Is it plain?

The parents of both couples would not permit marriage because of the youth of their respective sons and daughters. So the four young lovers appealed to McCay, and McCay forthwith set about to arrange a double marriage. Somehow or other the father and mother of Miss Walton, who live in Cartersville, were informed of the plans.

The sheriff was notified and when the groom-to-be arrived in Cartersville he met opposition. An automobile was chartered and the two lovers were whisked to Atlanta before the sheriff could interfere. Arriving here they were met by McCay, who had bought the license for both couples and had arranged with Judge Eugene Thomas to perform the ceremony.

McCay was accompanied by Shields and Miss Bridwell, who had also run away. Barely had the two couples met than they discovered two detectives who had been instructed to shadow them by the sheriff of Cartersville.

McCay bundled the runaways into a taxicab and hurried them to the municipal court at which Judge Thomas presided. The marriage was performed and the brides and grooms sent to their respective homes, where they received parental blessings, after all.

Then McCay, after having filled the respective offices of field agent and stage director, came to The Constitution office and broke the news to the city editor, thus performing the duty of Cupid's press agent.

TWO IMPORTANT POINTS WON BY THE RAILROADS

Washington, April 27.—Railroads won two important points in personal injury suits today in the supreme court. The court decided that where the federal employers' liability law of 1908 makes railroads absolutely liable if they are violating a "law" at the time an employee is injured, the word "law" meant "federal" and not "state law." The court set aside a judgment of $7,500 rendered by the supreme court of North Carolina in favor of James T. Horton, an engineer on the Seaboard Air Line.

The court also decided that a man injured while engaged in switching interstate cars does not come within the federal employers' liability act, though the next thing he was to do constituted an act of interstate commerce. As a result of this decision the court held that John Behrens, a fireman of New Orleans, was not entitled to recover from the Illinois Central.

"The Woman Who Dared."

(At the Bijou.)

An enthusiastic audience greeted Eddie Black and his players at the Bijou last night when "The Woman Who Dared" was presented. The new offering is a genuine thriller. Its scenes are mostly laid in Russia and the nihilists of that country are depicted in graphic fashion. The play is one of the strongest put on by Mr. Black.

All the members of the company were given a flattering reception. Mr. Black's greeting amounted to an ovation. He has a delightfully clever comedy role and was a prime favorite with the audience from the start. Edwin Vail was seen to splendid advantage in a very strong role. Miss Marie Claire was delightful as the countess and made many new friends by her capable acting.

Frank Dare was all that could be wished in the role of villain. R. H. Turner and Newton Rose both had congenial roles and scored hits. Miss Anna Brandt and Miss Alice DeLane appeared to advantage in parts which gave scope of effective portrayal. Walter VanDyke gave a good account of himself.

La Verne Stock Company.

(At the Lyric.)

It is to be hoped, at least, that by the time Miss Lucille La Verne and her capable company is ready to leave Atlanta local theatergoers will appreciate the merits of the company and the worth of the plays that have been given.

"Ann Boyd," a Georgia play, with the atmosphere of "The Old Homestead," rich and colorful, and affording the widest possible scope, was the play offered last night at the Lyric, inheriting for the third week of a truly delightful season. And it is a fact to be regretted that the enthusiasm displayed was only of a lukewarm caliber, despite the fact that the play is from the pen of Will N. Harben, a Georgia writer.

But aside from that fact, "Ann Boyd" is a splendid play. It has its lesson—that of a woman more sinned against than sinned.

Miss La Verne plays the title role, and her work was refreshing, to say the least. At times she gave the part that sympathy which made it stand among characters for many years, and at other times Miss La Verne showed her wonderful talents as an emotional actress. And every other member of the company was excellent.

"Ann Boyd" is exquisitely staged, and should attract larger audiences. Surely the company and the effort each member is putting forth deserve it.

JAMES W. MEADE.

Keith Junior Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

The audiences yesterday afternoon and last night agreed—vociferously at frequent intervals—that Junior Keith vaudeville at the Grand is great.

For instance, there are Golden and Hughes, clever singing comedians, who aren't taking a vacation by any means, and whose repertoire of songs and music never came out of last year's catalog.

The Castillians, who played the Forsyth earlier in the season, and who present art studies in bronze human statuary, performed an act that was excellently staged and arranged. It held the house breathless at times.

The bill consists of a four-reel picture, titled, by the way, "The Dead Man Who Kills," and is as melodramatic as it sounds, and which opens the show. It is followed by Margie-Austin and Blake-Mabel, novelty dancers, who went strong.

Herbert Hodge and Mildred Lowell present a funny playlet, "Cupid's Mistake," and admit that such mistakes as are made in their play aren't the only ones Cupid makes. Their mistakes, however, are intentional.

The Three Rainos close the bill with a novel farce entitled "A September Morn in Africa," and their act is good. If you can imagine anything more ludicrous than an inky-hued September Morn, why you have a fair conception of the farce in the Three Rainos' performance.

Three performances daily for the first three days of the week—change of program Thursday.

BRITT CRAIG.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Conroy, the life-saver, and his two assistants, both girls, both pretty in face and form, and both clever in posing and in diving—well, the temptation is great to riot in superlatives over these three actors in a great diving act.

Atlanta has had one opportunity to see Kellerman, and since it was a diving act, Atlanta saw a good deal of her. Forsyth audiences have twice reviewed acts offered by Ideal and Odiva, and it will be remembered that Ideal came near living up to her name.

But these were like the first part of a book or the opening of a play—that is, they were merely intended to lead up to the climax. In the diving performance being shown here this week, perfection has been threatened if not attained. The act has everything it takes to make it a go in vaudeville. It is worth while in every sense of the word. But about here the superlatives run out, and space conditions demand the eulogy be cut short and something be said about the other numbers.

So it is time to have a few words with Pop Anson. Of course Pop is first and foremost and always a ball player to the army of fans. He says he can't sing, can't dance, can't do any of the things that a regular actor ought to do, but at that—take it from us—he is better than many an alleged real actor Atlanta has suffered.

Next on the program is Valerie Bergere, in a sketch of the Bowery, telling of painters and love and poverty.

Fred Lindsay shows the audience the wonderful things that can be done with a stock whip. Hildegard Mason and George Murray in "Just Vaudeville," please. Miss Mason's second dress is pretty enough to make good any amount of deficiencies in acting.

Mabel Fitzgerald, "the laugh girl," is funny sometimes. The Aldo brothers open the bill.

I WAS A Heavy Drinker
Consumed Quart of Whisky Every 24 Hours.

VICTORY IN 3 DAYS

If you know anyone who drinks alcohol in any form, regularly or periodically, let me send my FREE book, "Confessions of an Alcohol Slave."

I drank beer at first, then gradually developed into a drinker of strong liquors, the same as so many do. When drinking heavily I wouldn't hesitate to pawn my coat to get spirits. Even a few drinks will do injury, yet for long periods I would average to drink over a quart of whisky, rum or gin daily. Often some mixed drinks and beer additionally.

I damaged business, health and social opportunities, made family miserable, lost real friends and became an unworthy, unwelcome burden upon all except the saloonkeepers, who cheerfully took my money for the poison they gave me.

For 16 years I kept it up, and I was regarded as a hopeless case. Various "cures" did me no good. But now I have a joyous message for drinkers and

Mothers, Wives, Sisters

While drifting from bad to worse, as all slaves of King Alcohol do, I unexpectedly found a true remedy. It saved my life. I got rid of the drink habit. My health was quickly restored; and I became and am a respectable man, enjoying every benefit of freedom from accursed alcohol. I specially and naturally lost all desire for drink. I took less and less. I began to prefer tea, coffee, buttermilk and other non-alcoholic liquids; the craving for liquor ceased. I could sleep perfectly, my stomach became well and I recovered from other ailments which undoubtedly were due to my indulgence in strong drink.

WONDERFUL

It was done in 3 days; if I had relied upon willpower or faith I would still be a drunkard, because an alcohol slave has no will power while drinking. I rejoiced so greatly at having found true relief that I decided to help to remove the curse from others. My success has been marvelous, for I have a reliable, guaranteed Set of Remedies adapted for sending to anyhome, anywhere. My Remedies have saved legions of drinkers; the list includes very many persons in all walks of life. I will send you testimonials by the hundreds every one of which you can verify. Many were saved from the drink habit because they desired to get rid of it forever and others who did not have even that much will-power left, were rescued without their knowledge by loving wives, mothers, or friends. The after-effect of riddance of drink habit should give energy throughout the entire body; the mind, memory and will-power may be wonderfully strengthened.

I tell about the secret in my book, which I send FREE to every person (or relative or friend) who takes alcohol in any form to excess. The purpose is to save the drunkard. I rejoice in every victory; each victim has my sympathy. Write to Edward J. Woods, 584 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. My Remedies are for either steady or periodical drinkers. Think of it—a complete and delightful overcoming of drink habit between Friday night and Monday night—or any other 72 hours.

FOR MEN OR WOMEN, ANY AGE.

To relatives, friends, or employers I say—if you want to save a drinker in the quickest time and completely, with or without his knowledge and with absolute safety, read my book—often changes despair to joy.

ABSOLUTELY FREE

I will send you my book, in plain wrapper promptly, postpaid. It tells of my own career and of the wonderful method, also gives valuable information. No other book like it. I especially appeal to those who have wasted money on treatments or remedies which had no lasting effect. Remember, it costs nothing; you will always be glad that you wrote. Washington, April 27.—President Wilson tonight received from the international peace bureau of Brussels a cablegram congratulating the United States on accepting mediation in the Mexican dispute. The cablegram lauds the United States as "leader in the cause of universal peace."

VILLA MAKES FOR PEACE, SAYS CONGRESSMAN KENT

Washington, April 27.—"One strong man, General Villa, stands between us and war," declared Representative Kent, of California, today in the house. "He is a bandit, to be sure, but he has proven himself a great leader, growing not only in power, but in understanding of what the world demands. We must choose whether we are willing to accept this man's services or declare war."

Representative Mendell, of Wyoming, criticised Consul Canada at Vera Cruz for statements he had sent out in regard to conditions in Mexico, which Mr. Mondell charged were attempts to inflame the American people against Mexico.

In Massenet's "Manon Lescaut" Farrar, Caruso and Gilly Score Artistic and Musical Triumph

By Isma Dooly.

Farrar, Caruso and Gilly were more than artists in their brilliant interpretation of Massenet's great opera, "Manon Lescaut," in which he has told the tragic story by Abbe Provost, in a poetry of music powerful in thought and dignity. There was genius in the work of these three stars shining now so radiantly in the world of music.

One moment Miss Farrar held her audience in powerful sway with the beauty of her voice, the next moment there blended with it the almost superhuman tenderness of Caruso's great voice, and then there entered the harmony of the ensemble the deep musical notes of Gilly's wonderful baritone—with the orchestra carrying the trio under the unrivaled directorship of Toscanini.

From the moment the curtain rose until the last scene, where the wrecked little body and soul of Manon lay prostrate in her lover's arms, there was not a break in the great union of forces, which there must be to complete the music drama, the opera is.

Farrar's Perfect Art.

Though intellect and a broad knowledge of the drama and music have at all times been the accompaniment of Miss Farrar's success, with her voice of exquisite purity and sweetness, there was a mastery in her conception of Manon last night that caused her admirers to declare that never had her accomplishment reached the degree of perfection which distinguished her performance last evening. Though giving to the role a creative touch—an expression of her own genius, she never failed in her appreciation of and devotion to the dignity and reserve of Massenet's music. Her singing, her acting reflected the subtlety and delicacy with which the composer's music sounds the intensest of human emotions.

Her work in the first act portrayed all the spirit, simplicity consciousness and vanity of the wayward school girl awaiting adventure and conquest.

Abandon came in the second act, when her voice and dramatic art began sensuous appeal, and she was all her lover sang: "She has grace, radiant youth and beauty; music flows in a stream from her lips; in her eyes shines the tender light of love."

Perfect Witchery.

In the great act where she goes to renew her conquest of des Grieux in the monastery of St. Surplice, Miss Farrar again proved her right to be called one of the greatest actresses, as well as one of the greatest musical artists.

With the passion for des Grieux always dominant, and the fear that she had lost his love, she reached for him with all the fervor of a woman's love, and the coquettesan's witchery, and made the conquest of his very soul, as he struggled to keep it.

Caruso Given Ovation.

The ovation to Caruso, from the moment his great God-given voice sounded with his companions in the inn until it soothed into her death-sleep the dying Manon, continued that ovation given him in New York Wednesday night, when he, Farrar and Scotti had forty curtain calls.

Power and sweetness, passion and tenderness were all expressed in his tenor voice of unsurpassed beauty, carried in the poetry and finished music of Massenet—and carrying his audience enchanted—enthralled.

As Lescaut, Dinh Gilly's deep, true and flexible baritone had vehicle for the expression of his art—an art showing always the exquisite finish the French opera stage gives. He held his audience as delighted last night as he had left them when he sang the Venetian love song in the "Tales of Hoffmann," last year.

Leon Rothier, as the Comte des Grieux, met every demand of the role, and his excellent work met ready response from the audience.

De Segurola, as De Bretigny, was in superb voice, and interpreted the role with the knowledge and finish proclaiming him always the artist.

Pietro Ananian was the innkeeper, a role of which he made the best, and Leonora Sparkes and Rosina Van Dyck, as Ponsette and Javotte, completed splendidly the all-star cast.

Honors and honors are ever due Toscanini, whose orchestral mastership, heightened and tempered, illumined and shaded every line of the composer's music, and perfected the final production of the opera.

MEXICAN PRISONERS MOVED FROM FT. BLISS

Washington, April 27.—Orders were issued by the war department today transferring the Mexican prisoners held at Fort Bliss, near El Paso, Texas, to Fort Wingate, N. M. The war department believed it necessary to move the prisoners further from the Mexican border in view of possible developments.

The Third squadron of the Twelfth cavalry, now at Fort Meade, S. D., will be sent to Fort Wingate to guard the prisoners.

The Mexicans, soldiers and other refugees, have been held at Fort Bliss since they fled across the border seeking refuge on American soil after the battle of Ojinaga. The defeated federals, pursued by victorious constitutionalists, crossed the Rio Grande and were rounded up by the United States troops. The war department feared that so large a colony of Mexicans near the border might excite the Mexicans across the river and perhaps lead to an effort to liberate the prisoners.

The prisoners will be entrained at El Paso under a heavy guard from the Twelfth infantry, which will accompany them to Fort Wingate and turn them over to the cavalry ordered there.

Prisoners Number 4,900.

El Paso, Texas, April 27.—The Mexican federal prisoners now under guard at Fort Bliss, near here, number 4,900, of whom approximately 1,900 are women and children. The prisoners include Generals Mercado Francisco Castro, Blas, Orpinal and Romero. General Jose Ynez Salazar, also confined with them, is under indictment in the United States on charges of violating the neutrality laws. He will be taken to Santa Fe for trial in May. Mazimo Castillo, said to have been chief of the bandits who set fire to the Cumbres tunnel, in which at least eleven Americans lost their lives, also is a prisoner at Fort Bliss.

JUDGE WESTMORELAND'S FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

The funeral of Judge T. P. Westmoreland will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Trinity church, Rev. J. W. Lee, of St. Louis, assisted by Rev. Luke Johnson, pastor of Trinity, officiating.

Bishop C. K. Nelson, vice president of the Atlanta Medical college, of which Judge Westmoreland was president of the board, requests all members to attend the services.

The Atlanta Bar association will meet this morning at 9:30 o'clock in Judge Bell's courtroom and pass appropriate resolutions on the death of Judge Westmoreland, and name honorary pallbearers. All lawyers in the city are urged to be present.

Rev. W. P. Chevalier.

Rev. W. P. Chevalier, aged 62 years, died last night at 10 o'clock at a private sanitarium. The body was removed to Patterson's chapel, and funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Moore Memorial church, Dr. A. R. Holderby officiating. Interment will be in Casey's cemetery. He is survived by his wife, one son, Stuart Chevalier, and a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Lee, of Atlanta.

We speak of the novel display we have arranged for opera week of that express the latest word of fashion.

The display will show the authoritative and authentic styles of the very moment.

It was arranged by our buyer—who has just returned from New York—through the co-operation of Estelle Mershon, 20 E. Forty-sixth St., New York. It is a display worthy of Paris, for the benefit of Atlanta women.

You are invited to attend, whether you have in mind the buying of hat and hair ornaments or not.

It will be of interest.

Hats for matinees and garden parties, hair ornaments for evening wear, the new diminutive flower baskets that are decidedly smart; corsage bouquets.

The New Piano Store will prove of interest to all lovers of music. A more elegant display of Grand, Upright and Player-Pianos could hardly be found.

WAR SPIRIT FIRES VETERANS OF GRAY

Marchers and Spectators of the Memorial Day Parade Thrilled by Present Conflict in Mexico.

Thinner and thinner each year grows the wavering line of Dixie's confederate heroes. The husky rebel yell, "Yip, yip, yip!" which turned the tide of many battles, come now only from throats of men who are making ready to answer to the last bugle call, but each passing year seems to add more reverence to Memorial day throughout the south, and in Atlanta and Georgia yesterday thousands joined with the grizzled vets of '61 to make the day the most inspiring in the history of the city and state.

In a blazing sun, through a serried crowd of compact thousands, the straggling band of veterans marched to the air of inspiring martial music. There were but few more than one hundred veterans in the parade. Some, moved by the indomitable spirit of the confederacy, trudged wearily over the hot pavements. Others, too old or feeble, rode in carriages, automobiles and in wagons.

War Spirit Thrills Marchers.

The war spirit, evidently provoked by the Mexican situation, thrilled marchers and spectators.

"Send the old heroes to Mexico!" shouted a hot-blooded youth as the parade passed the Capital City club.

And from the ranks an old soldier, his faded gray coat hanging loosely over his shoulders, and his back bent with age, shouted back:

"We're ready! Just give us the old flag!" and the cry was taken up all along the line to Oakland cemetery, where the Ladies' Memorial association arranged an elaborate program, with Colonel Lawton B. Evans, of Augusta, eldest son of General Clement A. Evans, to deliver the Memorial day address.

Exercises at Oakland.

Every lane and avenue in Oakland cemetery was thronged. Seats were provided for the veterans in front of the confederate monument, which casts its shadow over the grave of General Clement Evans. Members of the Ladies' Memorial association, Daughters of the Confederacy, Confederate Sons, Daughters of the American Revolution and other organizations occupied seats on a platform.

Despite the heat of the sun which beat down on the scene, the veterans sat with bared heads while Rev. C. B. Wilmer read the invocation. Then followed the reading of Charles Hubner's poem, "The Story of the Battle Flag," by Professor Vettner. The crowd joined in singing "In the Sweet By and By," and then Colonel Edgar E. Pomeroy, grand marshal of the parade and master of ceremonies, introduced Colonel Evans.

Evans Honors Veterans.

"This is a day consecrated to traditions dear to the hearts of the southern people," he said. "Throughout half the country the day has been set aside to honor the men who surrendered their lives, or who fought for a cause they believed to be right. And it is but proper that we pay a silent tribute of reverence to those men, living and dead.

"The war was a mighty struggle. It was an array of the ablest soldiers led by the ablest generals the world ever knew. It was not a struggle of one nation against another, but it was one part of a country against another—a struggle of tradition. We all know how the young men and the old went forth. There was no holding back, no shirking.

"How men died is a story too well known. Have they died in vain? Are there no lessons to be learned from these graves? Nay, not as long as there is a daughter or a son of a soldier left to tell the story. The regeneration would not have been possible had the south anything to retract. The heroism which sleeps beneath these graves is reflected in the generation of today. The principle is immortal. There is going on today a nation-wide protest against the abuse of power, of usurpation, of coercion of the many against the few, and the conflict of fifty years ago was the principle—a protest against usurpation."

At the close of Colonel Evans' address the crowd joined in singing "God Be With Thee."

Flowers were then placed on each confederate grave.

Route of Parade.

The parade got under way shortly after 2 o'clock, forming at the junction of Peachtree, West Ppachtree and Baker streets. Colonel E. E. Pomeroy, late in command of the Fifth regiment, was grand marshal of the day, and with his staff headed the long procession. Close behind the grand marshal came the members of the Old Guard battalion, under command of Major George M. Napier. Then came the first division, headed by Chief of Police Beavers and a detachment of mounted policemen. Then came Governor Slaton and his staff, and the military, consisting of the Fifth regiment, the Marist college cadets, the Georgia military academy cadets, ten troops of boys' scouts and the Jackson Hill brigade.

Major William M. Slaton commanded the second division, composed of the Red Men's drum corps, the Knights of Pythias and battalions from the Boys' high school and grammar schools. Then came the third division, commanded by Colonel J. S. Prather, and consisting of the veterans of Atlanta's six confederate camps. The next division was under the command of Colonel Thomas J. Ripley, and consisted of automobiles and carriages bearing the members of the Ladies' Memorial Day association, confederate veterans who were too infirm to walk and invited guests.

Services at Athens.

Athens, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—More significant than usual were the Memorial day exercises in Athens this year. The principal address was made by Judge Andrew J. Cobb. After a brief review of the war between the states and a tribute to the soldiers and mothers of the south, Judge Cobb called to mind the nation is again at war. He commended the president for the patience displayed and for the later action in defense of national honor; he declared that the same principles underlay the utterances of the president which were back of the confederate soldiers in their warfare.

Lexington's Memorial Day.

Lexington, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) Memorial exercises were observed here by the old veterans. Hon. Lucian L. Knight made the memorial address, which was well received. The occasion was one of sweet memories mingled with its share of sadness. A sumptuous basket dinner was spread on tables near the church, and all were bountifully supplied with good things to eat.

Services at Newnan.

Newnan, Ga., April 27,—(Special.)—Memorial day was observed here today with affectionate and impressive ceremonies, and, in the presence of a large gathering, Hon. W. C. Wright, of Newnan, orator of the day, delivered an able and eloquent address. The exercises were under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Judge Foster Speaks.

Madison, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Memorial exercises were held in Madison today under the auspices of the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Appropriate exercises were held at the High School auditorium, after which a large crowd gathered at the cemetery, where Judge Fred C. Foster, of this city, made a splendid oration over the graves of our fallen heroes. Flowers were in abundance and a large crowd attended the exercises.

Exercises at Moultrie.

Moultrie, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Appropriate memorial services were held today in honor of the Confederate dead. Rev. E. M. Overby was orator of the day, and delivered a most eloquent discourse. Dr. Guerant, of Louisville, Ky., a distinguished divine and a Confederate soldier, also spoke. The ladies of the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy decorated the graves of soldiers buried in the local cemetery.

Wright Speaks at Marietta.

Marietta, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Hon. Moses Wright addressed the veterans today at the Confederate cemetery, the occasion being the celebration of Memorial day. There were many veterans, the public school children and a large concourse of citizens in attendance. Judge Wright pleased his audience immensely. He was introduced by Colonel Lindley Camp, of the local bar. Colonel Glenn Giles was marshal of the day. Mayor Dobbs provided automobiles for the veterans.

Judge Daniel at Barnesville.

Barnesville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) Judge Robert T. Daniel, of Griffin, judge of the Flint circuit, delivered here today what is regarded by many as the finest memorial address ever heard in this city. It was an eloquent presentation of the position of the south in regard to secession and the war, a beautiful tribute to Generals Lee, Jackson and Joseph E. Johnston and other leaders and the soldiers of the Confederacy, and a vivid picture of some of the great battles. The Barnesville chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, spread a magnificent dinner for the old veterans. After the exercises in the auditorium a vast throng of school children marched to the cemetery and covered the Confederate and federal graves with flowers.

POLITE MAN STABBED BY POCKET SCISSORS

Waycross, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) Stooping down to pick up a letter for a young lady in a department store in which he is employed, James Strickland, son of the county tax collector, J. T. Strickland, was today painfully stabbed in the abdomen by a pair of scissors he had in his watch pocket.

The injury was dressed immediately and the young man, an ardent baseball fan, left the bed to go to Brunswick on a special to witness the first game of the season between Waycross and Brunswick.

DR. IRA REMSEN HERE ON VISIT TO HIS SON

Dr. Ira Remsen, editor of The American Chemical Journal and former president of Johns Hopkins university, is spending opera week at the Georgian Terrace on a visit to his son, Dr. Charles M. Remsen, who for the last two years has been practicing surgery in Atlanta.

Dr. Remsen is an authority on chemistry and has written many famous volumes on the subject.

A., B. & A. TO BE SOLD IN ATLANTA ON MAY 15

E. T. Lamb, receiver of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, which has been ordered sold by the court, announced on Monday the date of the sale as May 15. The sale was set for last week, but postponed.

Services at Lawrenceville.

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Protracted services began at the Methodist church Sunday morning, April 26, with Rev. F. J. Mashburn, the pastor, doing the preaching. Rev. S. R. Belk, D. D., will come over and assist Mr. Mashburn, beginning next Sunday, and a great meeting is expected.

JUDGE HARRIS INDORSED BY COL. J. W. PRESTON

Commander of Georgia Veterans Pays Tribute to Candidate for Governor.

Macon, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Beginning with a reunion of the Confederate Veterans this morning and ending with the firing of a salute at 6 o'clock this afternoon at the Confederate monument by the three local military companies, Macon today fittingly observed Memorial day. After the reunion the veterans were given a barbecue by the Daughters of the Confederacy and were later guests of honor at public exercises at the city auditorium, where Colonel John T. Boifeuillet was the speaker. The veterans afterward marched to the cemetery where they placed flowers on the graves of their departed comrades.

At the reunion this morning Colonel J. W. Preston, commander of the Georgia division, United Confederate Veterans, paid a tribute to Judge Nat E. Harris, candidate for governor of Georgia, who is a confederate veteran.

"Judge Harris is an able man and qualified to fill any office in the gift of the people," said Colonel Preston to the 200 veterans present. "While it is a fundamental law of the veterans' association not to mix politics with their affairs, still it is permissible I think, for the veterans to select a man from their ranks who is as well qualified as any one else to hold public office. It is my opinion that the veterans all over Georgia will support Judge Harris, for they hold him in high esteem both as a citizen and as a stateman."

MEMBERS OF UNION BAND FACED BY COURTMARTIAL

Savannah, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) An investigation of the action of a union band during a military parade a few nights ago with the view to bringing charges against the musicians has been started by officers of the First regiment.

The investigation may result in the court-martial of the musicians for disobedience of instructions. It is alleged that the band refused to do as directed by Colonel John G. Butler, in command of the regiment. A civilian band that takes part in a military parade is subject to military discipline, it seems.

BUTTS COUNTY FARMERS END COTTON PLANTING

Jackson, Ga., April 27.—Special.)—The farmers of Butts county have just about finished planting the cotton crop. The acreage of cotton this year will be considerably less this year than in any preceding year in the history of the county. Corn and oats have been planted and the grain crop will be the largest ever grown here.

Federal Farm Demonstrator H. L. Worsham, of this county, states that the Boys' Corn club and the Girls' Canning club have been largely responsible for the turning to other crops than cotton. The outlook for this year is exceedingly bright, and those who know say this will be a banner year in Butts county agriculture.

NEARLY MAD WITH ITCHING HUMOR

Began on Limbs. Spread in Bunches All Over Body and Arms. Would Scratch Until Fell Asleep From Exhaustion. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in a Week.

Murtleville, Va.—"I was an intense sufferer from some sort of humor. It began on my limbs and gradually spread in bunches as large as my two hands on my hips and all over my body and arms. I first noticed a stinging itching and uncontrollable desire to scratch. As soon as I had done so it would relieve very little and would leave the flesh very red, and flat looking lumps would appear and I would nearly go mad from the awful itching. I would scratch till the blood would appear. My clothing irritated the breaking out after it had formed sort of a head. Then I would scratch and a watery fluid would ooze from the bumps. The burning sensation was almost equal to being burned by fire. Nights it seemed worse; I could not sleep half the night. I would sit up till late and even after I retired I could not sleep but would scratch till I fell asleep from exhaustion.

"One day I came across some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed the places with the Cuticura Soap and after they were dried with a towel I would apply the Cuticura Ointment. I was cured in a week." (Signed) Miss Marion T. Purkins, June 6, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

WHAT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT THE PRESENT CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN MEXICO?

This Page contains a few Facts about Mexico from the many splendid Articles in the new Encyclopaedia Britannica. These Articles Cover in Great Detail, not only the Land and the People, the Resources, Finances and Institutions of the country, but the Political and Social Conditions from the Aboriginal Period to the Present Day, affording the Reader a Complete Grasp of the Conditions lying behind the troubles which have finally resulted in Armed Intervention by the United States.

Causes of the Present Revolution---The Privileged Classes Versus the People

From the Encyclopaedia Britannica

"Thenceforward, till the second election of Porfirio Diaz to "the presidency in 1884, the history of Mexico is one of almost "continuous warfare, in which Maximilian's empire is a mere "episode. The conflicts, which may at first sight seem to be "merely between rival generals, are seen upon closer examina-"tion to be mainly (1) between the privileged classes, i. e., the "church and (at times) the army, and the mass of the other "civilized population; (2) between Centralists and Federalists, "the former being identical with the army, the church, and the "supporters of despotism, while the latter represent the desire "for republicanism and local self-government. Similar conflicts "are exhibited, though less continuously, by most of the other "Spanish-American states.

"On both sides in Mexico there was an element consisting "of honest doctrinaires; but rival military leaders exploited the "struggles in their own interest, sometimes taking each side suc-"cessively; and the instability was intensified by the extreme "poverty of the peasantry, which made the soldiery reluctant "to return to civil life, by the absence of a regular middle class, "and by the concentration of wealth in a few hands, so that a "revolutionary chief was generally sure both of money and of "men. But after 1884, under the rule of Diaz, the Federal system "continued in name, but it concealed in fact, with great benefit "to the nation, a highly centralized administration, very intelli-"gent, and on the whole both popular and successful—a modern "form of rational despotism.

Odd Facts About Mexico

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Mexico is officially called "Estados Unidos Mexicanos" and "Republica Mexicana."

Mexico has an area of 767,290 square miles.

The greatest length of the country is from northwest to southeast, 1,900 miles; its greatest width, 750 miles, and its least width a little short of 140 miles.

The outline of Mexico is sometimes compared to a huge cornucopia, with its opening toward the United States.

There are 4,574 miles of coast line on the Pacific side, including the Gulf of California.

The coast lines on the Gulf of Mexico measure about 1,400 miles, and there are 327 miles on the Caribbean sea.

Surface

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

An immense elevated plateau, with a chain of mountains on its eastern and western margins, occupies the greater part of the country.

The "tierras calientes," or hotlands, are low plains lying along the coast on both sides of Mexico. This lowland region is in general 30 to 40 miles in width, and very unhealthy.

The great plateau of Mexico is very largely of volcanic origin.

The general elevation of the highest part of the plateau is about 8,000 feet, in the states of Mexico and Puebla.

The highest mountain peaks are the gigantic, snow-clad, extinct volcanoes Popocatepetl (Smoking Mountain) and Ixtaccihuatl (White Woman), 17,888 and 17,343 feet high, respectively. These peaks are about 20 miles southeast of Mexico City.

In the neighborhood of Mexico City the country is highly volcanic, and has a large number of extinct volcanoes and at least three that are active or semi-active.

Earthquakes are numerous throughout the republic, especially on the western coast. Slight shocks or "temblores" are almost of daily occurrence.

Rivers

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Mexico has no large rivers, only a few small streams flowing from the mountain slopes at the edge of the great plateau eastward to the gulf and westward to the Pacific. Its peculiar surface formation, a high plateau shut in by mountain barriers and the narrow lowland region between it and the coast, does not permit the development of large river basins.

The Rio Grande del Norte, or Rio Bravo, on the northern frontier, is practically an American river, as it rises in American territory and receives very little water from the Mexican side.

The lakes are small and few. Six small lakes in the valley of Mexico are probably the remains of a lake once occupying the whole valley, and are gradually disappearing.

Most of the ports on the gulf coast are on small rivers obstructed by sandbars.

Tampico harbor has been improved by breakwaters, or jetties, and deepening of the channel, so that it is safe and commodious.

Vera Cruz is an open anchorage inside of a series of reefs which afford no protection to the vessels from the "northers." This explains the dispatch of Admiral Fletcher describing his first landing of marines. He reported the landing was made "in the face of an approaching 'norther.'" The report suggests that this condition is still a source of danger.

Commerce

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Coastwise trade is principally under the Mexican flag, but the steamers are owned abroad.

Imports were valued in 1910-11 at $96,006,880, and the exports at $147,451,965.

The imports largely consist of railway material, industrial machinery, cotton, woolen and linen textiles and yarns for national factories, hardware, furniture, building material, mining supplies, drugs and chemicals, wines and spirits, wheat, Indian corn, paper and military supplies and equipment.

The exports include gold, silver, copper, coffee, henequen or sisal, textile and other fibers, cabinet woods, chicle, rubber and other forest products, hides and skins, chickpeas, tobacco and sugar.

In the production of cane sugar, Mexico, compared with other countries, is thirteenth, with 155,000 tons; of rice, sixteenth, with 125,000,000 pounds; of tobacco, fourteenth, with 34,700,000 pounds; cotton, seventh, with 200,000 bales; gold, fourth, with 1,412,000 ounces; silver, first, with 87,000,000 ounces; coffee, sixth, with 68,688,000 pounds; copper, second, with 61,900 pounds; lead, fourth, with 124,600 tons.

Population

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

The population according to the most recent estimate is 15,003,207, giving an average of 19.6 inhabitants per square mile.

Less than one-fifth (19 per cent) of the population is classed as whites, 38 per cent is Indians, and 43 per cent is mixed bloods, or mestizos.

Under the constitution of 1834 all race distinctions were abolished, so that nominally all parts of the population are free and equal.

The Indians began in about 1866 to take an interest in public affairs, and soon began to make their influence felt.

It is the general conclusion that the Indians have been decreasing in number while the mixed bloods have been increasing.

The death rate among the Indian children is estimated at not less than 50 per cent.

The unhealthfulness of the coastal plains prevents their being thickly populated, although Vera Cruz and some other states return a large population.

The Indian element in the population is made up of several distinct races—the Aztec or Mexican, Misteca-Zapoteca, Maya or Yucateco, Otomi or Othomi, and in smaller number the Totonac, Tarasco, Apache, Matlanzingo, Chontal, Mixe, Zoque, Guaicuro, Opata-Pima, Tapijulapa, Seri and Huavi.

No fewer than fifty-one distinct languages and fifty-nine dialects have been found among the Indian inhabitants of Mexico.

Railways

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

The total mileage of railways is 15,251, and that of telegraph lines 46,112.

A concession was granted for the construction of a railway from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico in 1857. It was not completed until 1873.

This railway, the logical route of United States troops to the Mexican capital, is known as the "Ferrocarril Mexicano," and "is celebrated because of the difficulties overcome on the precipitous eastern slopes of the Sierra Madre, the beauties of the mountain scenery through which it passes, and the rapid transition from the hot, humid coastal plain to the cool, arid plateau, 7,924 feet above the sea at Boca del Monte. The railway extends 264 miles between Vera Cruz and Mexico City." The line was capitalized at $46,000,000, and has paid a good profit on the investment.

Actual railway construction did not begin until 1878, during the first term of President Porfirio Diaz.

The two railway lines running northward from the capital to the American frontier, popularly called the Mexican Central and the Mexican National, were merged in 1908 with an aggregate capital of $460,000,000, Mexican money, of which the Mexican government holds a controlling interest.

Mining

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Mining is the most productive industry. Mines of some description are to be found in twenty-six of the thirty-one states and territories. There is also considerable production of coal, copper and iron.

The mineral resources of Mexico also include petroleum, asphalt, platinum, graphite, sodium and marble.

The most celebrated iron deposit is that of the Cerro del Mercado, in the outskirts of the city of Durango—a mountain 640 feet in height, 1,100 in breadth and 4,800 in length, reputed to be almost a solid mass of iron.

The City of Mexico

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Mexico City is 7,415 feet above sea level, and by rail 264 miles northwest of Vera Cruz.

With a wet, undrained subsoil, and many thousands of Indians and half-breeds living in crowded quarters, the death rate has been notoriously high—46 to 56 per thousand, though drainage works, underground sewers, and sanitation have tended to improve these conditions.

The city is laid out with almost unbroken regularity.

The name of a street changes with almost every block, according to old Spanish custom.

The Paseo de la Reforma, the finest avenue in the city, is a broad boulevard almost three miles long.

There were (1908) 353 government schools in the city, including 13 professional and technical schools, and nearly 200 private schools; a Geographical society, a Geological society, an Association of Engineers and Architects, and a Society of Natural History, also a national library dedicated in 1692, of upwards of 225,000 volumes.

There are over 150 manufacturing establishments, including iron working shops.

Did the Mexican Aborigines Come From Asia?

"The original peopling of "America might then well date "from the time when there was "continuous land between it and "Asia. . . . At all times communi-"cation has been open from East "Asia, and even the South Sea "Islands, to the west coast of "America. The importance of "this is evident when we con-"sider that late in the nineteenth "century Japanese junks still "drifted over by the ocean cur-"rent to California at the rate "of about one a year, often with "some of the crew still alive. "Further north, the Aleutian "Islands offer a line of easy sea "passage, while in Northeast "Asia, near Bering's Strait, live "Chukchi tribes who carry on "intercourse with the American "side.

"Moreover, there are details of "Mexican civilization which are "most easily accounted for on the "supposition that they were bor-"rowed from Asia. They do not "seem ancient enough to have to "do with a remote Asiatic origin "of the nations of America, but "rather to be results of compara-"tively modern intercourse be-"tween Asia and America. Hum-"boldt compared the Mexican "calendar with that in use in "Eastern Asia. The Mongols, "Tibetans, Chinese and other "neighbouring nations have a "cycle or series of twelve ani-"mals, viz., rat, bull, tiger, hare, "dragon, serpent, horse, goat, "ape, cock, dog, pig, which may "possibly be an imitation of the "ordinary Babylonian-Greek zo-"diac familiar to ourselves. The "Mongolian peoples not only "count their lunar months by "these signs, but they reckon "the successive days by them, "rat-day, bull-day, tiger-day, "&c., and also, by combining the "twelve signs in rotation with "the elements, they obtain a "means of marking each year in "the sixty-year cycle, as the "wood-rat year, the fire-tiger "year, &c. This method is high-"ly artificial, and the reappear-"ance of its principle in the "Mexican and Central American "calendar is suggestive of im-"portation from Asia.—(From "The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Agriculture in Mexico

"The agricultural resources of "Mexico are large and unusually "varied, as they comprise some of "the cereals and other food prod-"ucts of the temperate zone, and "most of the leading products of "the tropics. Agriculture, how-"ever, received slight attention, "owing to the early development "of the mining industries. An "indirect result of the industrial "development of Mexico, which "began during the last quarter "of the 19th century, has "been an increased interest in "agriculture, and especially in "undertakings requiring large "investments of capital, such as "coffee, sugar and rubber plan-"tations."—(From The Encyclo-paedia Britannica.)

Mixed Blood in Mexico

From the Encyclopaedia Britannica Article, MEXICO

"As the Spanish conquerors brought few women, there was "much mixture of races. Among the pure whites—who were "practically all of Spanish extraction—there were two well-"defined classes, the Gachupines or chapetones, Spaniards born "in Europe, said to be so named in allusion to their spurs, from "Aztec words meaning 'prickers with the foot,' and the native-"born or creoles; the former, though a small minority, had al-"most all the higher positions both in the public services and "in commerce. Besides these there were five well-defined castas: "mestizoes (Indian and white); mulattoes (negro and white); "Zambos (negro and Indian), who were regarded as specially "vicious and dangerous; native Indians and negroes. But there "were about a dozen intermediate 'named varieties,' of which the "salto-atras (tending away from white) and tente en l'aire (tend-"ing towards white) may be mentioned; and many of the last "named eventually passed into the Creole class, sometimes by "the decree of a court. The fact that the trade route to Manila "passed through Vera Cruz, Mexico City and Acapulco entailed "the settlement also of a few Chinese and Malays, chiefly on "the Pacific coast.

Characteristics of the Native Population

From the Encyclopaedia Britannica

"The native population of the plateau of Mexico, mainly "Aztecs, may still be seen by thousands without any trace of "mixture of European blood. Their stature is estimated to be "about 5 ft. 3 in., but they are of muscular and sturdy build. "Measurements of their skulls show them mesocephalic (index "about 78), or intermediate between the dolichocephalic and "brachycephalic types of mankind. The face is oval, with low "forehead, high cheek-bones, long eyes sloping outward toward "the temples, fleshy lips, nose wide and in some cases flattish "but in others aquiline, coarsely molded features, with a stolid "and gloomy expression. Thickness of skin, masking the mus-"cles, has been thought the cause of a peculiar heaviness in the "outlines of body and face; the complexion varies from yellow-"brown to chocolate (about 40 to 43 in the anthropological scale); "eyes black; straight coarse glossy black hair; beard and mous-"tache scanty.

52 Dictators, Presidents and Rulers in 59 Years

From the Encyclopaedia Britannica Article, PORFIRIO DIAZ

His term of office marks a prominent change in the history of Mexico; from that date he at once forged ahead with financial and political reform, the scrupulous settlement of all national debts, the welding together of the peoples and tribes (there are 150 different Indian tribes) of his country, the establishment of railroads and telegraphs, and all this in a land which had been upheaved for a century with revolutions and bloodshed, and which had fifty-two dictators, presidents and rulers in fifty-nine years.

How the Government is Organized

"Practically it is a Federal Re-"public with centralized execu-"tive powers. Its political divi-"sions consist of 27 States (orig-"inally 19,) having independent "local governments, 3 territories, "and 1 Federal district, in which "the national capital stands.

"The central government con-"sists of three co-ordinate "branches—executive, legislative, "and judicial—each nominally in-"dependent of the other. The "executive branch consists of a "President and Vice President, as-"sisted by a cabinet of 8 secre-"taries of state: (1) Foreign af-"fairs; (2) interior; (3) justice; "(4) public instruction and fine "arts; (5) fomento colonization, "and industry; (6) communica-"tions and public works; (7) fi-"nance and public credit; (8) war "and marine. The President and "Vice President are elected indi-"rectly through an electoral col-"lege chosen by popular vote, and "serve for a period of six years, "(the term was four years pre-"vious to 1904,) the Vice Presi-"dent succeeding to the office in "case of the death or permanent "disability of the President.

"A candidate for the Presi-"dency must be a native-born "Mexican citizen in the full exer-"cise of his political rights, 35 "years of age, not an ecclesiastic, "and a resident of the republic at "the time of the election."—(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

The "Hot Lands"

"The tierras calientes (hot "lands) of Mexico include the "two coastal zones, the Isthmus "of Tehuantepec, the states of "Tabasco, Campeche, and part of "Chiapas, the peninsula of Yu-"catan and a part of eastern "Oaxaca. The mean temperature "ranges from 77 degrees to 82 "degrees F., seldom falling "below 60 degrees, but often "rising to 105 degrees, and in the "sultry districts of Vera Cruz, "Guaymas and Acapulco to and "even above 110 degrees. The "rainfall is heavy in the south, "except Yucatan, but diminishes "gradually toward the north, un-"til on the Pacific and Gulf of "California coasts it almost "disappears. These lowland dis-"tricts are densely forested in "the south, except Yucatan, and "large areas are covered with "streams, swamps and lagoons, "the abode of noxious insects, "pestilential fevers and dysen-"tery. On both coasts yellow "fever epidemics appear at fre-"quent intervals.

"The great fertility of these "regions and the marvellous "wealth of their forests are ir-"resistible attractions to indus-"trial and commercial enterprise, "but their unhealthiness restricts "development and is a bar to any "satisfactory increase in popula-"tion. The heavy rainfall on the "Gulf coast, however, which "reaches a maximum of 90 to "100 in. in the Huatusco district "of Vera Cruz, causes the flood-"ing of large areas of lowlands, "and will make improvement "very difficult.—(From The En-cyclopaedia Britannica.)

Climate

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Mexico stretches across 17 parallels of latitude, with the Tropic of Cancer crossing the territory about midway, thus placing it in the tropical and sub-tropical regions.

The great central plateau carries temperate and sub-tropical conditions over much the greater part of the republic.

The temperature rises steadily as one descends to the lowlands on either side of the plateau, until the upper limit of the tropical region, called "tierras calientes," is reached, where the climate is hot, humid and unhealthy, as elsewhere in the forested coastal plains of tropical America. Here the temperature often rises to 105 degrees, and in the sultry districts of Vera Cruz, Guaymas and Acapulco to and even above 110 degrees.

Above the plateau rise the arginal sierras, while a few solated peaks in the region of perpetual snow give to Mexico a considerable area of cold temperature and a trace of arctic conditions.

The four seasons are clearly marked north of latitude 28 degrees north only. South of that parallel only a rainy season from May to October and a dry season for the rest of the year can be distinguished.

Long drouths are common in many parts of the country, and on the barren surface of the plateau the rains drain away rapidly.

Products of the Soil

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"An important product of the "plateau and of the open dis-"tricts of the tierras calientes, "growing in the most arid places, "is the 'nopal' or prickly pear "cactus. Its fruit, called 'tuna' "by the natives, is refreshing "and wholesome, and is a staple "food in spite of its spiny cover-"ing.

"In the tierras calientes of "Mexico, however, better condi-"tions prevail. A fertile soil, "abundant rainfall and high tem-"peratures have covered these "mountain slopes and lowland "plains with a wealth of vegeta-"tion. The problem for the agri-"culturist here is not irrigation, "but drainage and keeping down "spontaneous growths.

"In these regions sugar, to-"baco, indigo, cacao, rice, sweet "potatoes, alfalfa, beans and "cassava are produced, and In-"dian corn yields two and three "crops a year.

"Fruits also are plentiful, both "wild and cultivated. Among "them are the banana, plantain, "tuna, chili pepper, olive, cocoa-"nut, orange, lemon, lime, man-"go, pomegranate, 'pina' or "pineapple (wild and cultivated), "fig, ahuacatl, chirimoya, pa-"paya, gourd, melon, guava, "ciruela (plum), and the several "'zapote' fruits, including 'chico "zapote' from the Achras sapota, "which produces the 'chicla' or "chicle-gum of commerce, 'zapote "blanco,' 'zapote-barracho' (or "'amarillo'), 'zapote-prieto' (or "'negro') and 'zapote-mamey.'

Ants That Destroy Trees

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"An interesting species is the "leaf-cutting ant, which lives in "large underground colonies and "feeds upon a fungus produced by "leaf-cuttings stored in subterra-"nean passages to promote fer-"mentation. These ants will "strip a tree in a few hours, and "are very destructive to fruit "plantations. Some of the na-"tive trees have developed in-"genious methods of defense, one "of which is that of attracting "small colonies of another species "to drive away the marauders.

"Most destructive, also, are the "termites, or white ants, whose "ravages are to be seen in the "crumbling woodwork and furni-"ture of all habitations in the hot "zones. Some species build their "nests in trees—great globular "masses sometimes three feet in "diameter, supported on the larg-"er branches, and connected with "the ground by covered passages "on the outside of the tree. These "insects are blind and avoid the "light. Bees find a highly con-"genial habitat in Mexico, and "some honey is exported. Spi-"ders are also represented by a "large number of genera and spe-"cies, the most dreaded being the "venomous 'tarantula' and the "savage 'mygale.'"

Insects

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"The insect fauna of Mexico "covers a very wide range of "genera and species which, like "the other forms of animal life, "is largely made up of migratory "types. To the traveller, the most "conspicuous among the Mexi-"can insects, perhaps, are the "butterflies, beetles, ants, and "the myriads of mosquitoes, "midges, fleas and chinches. "Among the mosquitoes, which "are extraordinarily numerous in "some of the hot lowland dis-"tricts, are the species credited "with the spread of malarial and "yellow fevers. The midges are "even more numerous than the "mosquitoes. In pleasing con-"trast to such pests are the but-"terflies of all sizes and colors, "beetles of an inconceivable "variety of size, shape and color-"ation, and ants of widely dis-"similar appearance and habits."

Tropical Trees

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"Among the more important "and conspicuous trees of these "tropical forests are mahogany, "rosewood, Spanish cedar, cas-"sias, ceibas, rubber, palms of "many species, guayacan, log-"wood, brazilwood, palo blanco, "the cascalote and divi-divi trees, "the 'zapote chico' from which "chicle is extracted, 'zapote "prieto,' wild fig, myrtles, bam-"boos and many of the types al-"ready mentioned in connection "with the sub-tropical zone.

"Of the 114 species of trees and "cabinet-woods, 17 of oil-bearing "plants, and over 60 of medicinal "plants and dyewoods indigen-"ous to Mexico, by far the larger "part are represented in the "tierras calientes. Among the "well-known forest products of "this zone are arnotto, jalap, "ipecacuanha, sarsaparilla, rub-"ber, orchids and a great variety "of gums.

Plants and Plant Products

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"Of the economic plants and "products of Mexico, the list is "surprisingly long and interest-"ing. The cereals, fruits and "vegetables of Europe have been "introduced, and some of them "have done well. Wheat is wide-"ly cultivated and a considerable "part of the population depend "upon it for their bread. Indian "corn, which is believed to have "had its origin in Mexico, also "provides food for a large part of "the population. 'Tunas' or cactus "fruit, red peppers, 'zapotes' (the "fruit of various trees), 'array-"an,' 'ciruelas' or Mexican plum, "guavas, 'huamuchil,' tamarind "lacates, bananas, plantains, pine-"apples, grapes, oranges, lemons, "limes, granadillas, chirimoyas, "mammees, cocoanuts, cacao, man-"goes, olives, gourds and melons "are among the fruits of the "country, and rice, wheat, Indian "corn, beans, yams, sweet pota-"toes, onions and 'tomatoes' are "among its better-known food "products.

"The food of the common peo-"ple is chiefly made up of Indian "corn, beans, red peppers and "'tomatoes.' There are about 50 "known species of beans in Mex-"ico and Central America, and "probably a dozen species of red "peppers, which are used both in "seasoning and in making chili "sauce. The 'tomato' or 'tomatil-"lo' mentioned is the fruit of the "Physalis ixocarpa, sometimes "called the 'strawberry tomato,' "and the 'Mexican ground-cher-"ry,' which is used with red pep-"pers to make chili sauce.

"The common potato, of which "wild varieties are found, is not "commonly used as a vegetable. "but as a flavoring for soups "and other dishes.

The Marvelous Flora

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

"No brief description can ade-"quately portray the marvellous "variety and magnificence of the "flora of the tierras calientes. Its "forests are not composed of one "or a few dominating species, as "in the cold temperate zone, but "of countless genera and species "closely interwoven together—a "confused mass of giant trees, "lianas and epithytes strug-"gling to reach the sunlight. "This struggle for existence has "completely changed the habits "of some plants, turning the "palm and the cactus into climb-"ers, and even some normal spe-"cies into epiphytes.

Manufactures

(From The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Although usually described as a non-manufacturing country, Mexico meets a great part of its home demand for manufactured goods, where the raw material can be produced in the country.

Brown, or muscovado sugar (called "Panela" by the natives), is still made by primitive methods all over the country. This product is largely consumed in the rural districts.

An important branch of the textile industry is the manufacture of "zarapes" (called "ponchos" in other parts of Spanish America), a blanket slit in the entre for the head to pass through, and worn in place of a coat by men of the lower classes.

A WONDERFUL NIGHT.

The opening performance of Atlanta's fifth season of grand opera, like a picture from the "Arabian Nights," was a vivid presentation of the prowess of an American city, ashes fifty years ago. It was a tribute, also, to the vital and aggressive new south that has arisen around Atlanta.

The vast assemblage that heard "Manon" last evening was perhaps the most representative ever gathered under a southern roof since the civil war.

Every social and civic and commercial element in Atlanta and surrounding cities and states was represented in the thronged Auditorium.

The appreciation of the audience was a wonderful tribute to the stars. Of the thousands assembled every one seemed to be delighted with the success of the performance, which was in many respects one of the most notable presented in the long list of the Metropolitan's opera bills in Atlanta.

The success of last night's performance is a guarantee that this, the fifth, will undoubtedly be the most successful of the Metropolitan's engagements in Atlanta. It is confidentially predicted that the seat sales for the seven performances of the week will go considerably beyond the $100,000 mark, eclipsing the record of last year by perhaps $10,000, and showing that the annual engagements of the Metropolitan is attracting more widespread interest each succeeding year throughout the south.

It is worthy of note that from practically every southern city advance seat reservations were made this year, the entire southeastern section of the union, covering the territory south of Louisville, east of New Orleans and west of Richmond, being liberally represented in the attendance last night, and that promised for the week.

What a wonderful city is Atlanta! And no wonder the Metropolitan Opera company has committed itself to the proposition announced by Mr. Kahn a year ago that those who hereafter wanted to see the Metropolitan grand opera in this country could do so "only in two places—New York and Atlanta."

What was an experiment four years ago has been so thoroughly tested as to be a guaranteed success now. Not only Atlanta, but the whole south, has responded so liberally to the announcements of the Metropolitan's annual coming for the past five seasons that the event may be regarded as a fixed one for each recurring year.

The city never made a better investment and the management of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company never lent their efforts to a better purpose, for the broadening effect of these annual engagements in appealing as they do to the heart, the better instincts and the love of art and music of the people of a great section, cannot be otherwise than exceedingly beneficial.

MARKETS FOR GEORGIA BEEF.

Commending a recent Constitution editorial deprecating the shipping of native breeding cattle out of the state, J. J. Farrell, secretary of the Bainbridge board of trade, declares that Atlanta and other Georgia cities can help stem the tide by ceasing to discriminate against Georgia beef.

The primary trouble is that Georgia farmers do not as a rule raise the sort of cattle available for abbatoir purposes. They confine their sires almost exclusively to the native stock, and the result is that we have an endless procession of "scrub" or below-market cattle that do not approximately grade with the western product.

A perfect illustration is found in the case of the White Provision company, on the outskirts of Atlanta. Headed by an energetic young Atlantan, W. H. White, Jr., this company has erected one of the most modern and model packing houses in the country. The clamor of the promoters is for Georgia cattle, sheep and hogs. Their interest in promoting the native stock is not sentimental. They want to save freight rates and make more profits.

But until very recently it has been almost impossible for this packing house to secure enough native cattle with which to operate. It has been driven to import shipments from Tennessee, Alabama and other points.

The true remedy, as The Constitution originally pointed out, lies in a state-wide propaganda for the production of standard beef cattle; and for such far-sighted cooperation between bankers, merchants and farmers as will broaden the farmer's basis of collateral outward from all-cotton and give him time and facilities to revive the cattle industry.

Signs of an era of this nature already are at hand. When it materializes, Georgia will be one of the foremost cattle states in the country.

MEN WHO FEED ATLANTA.

In conformance with the custom inaugurated last year the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association has passed resolutions setting aside Wednesday of each week as a half holiday, effective June 10.

Up to last summer, the retail grocery stores and butcher shops of Atlanta had comprised the one exception among the local industries observing a weekly half-holiday.

The men engaged in the retail grocery and butcher business work often from 5 o'clock in the morning until 8 and 10 at night.

No other city occupation compares with this in demand upon time and nervous energy.

Last summer the association, after full investigation and a public mass meeting, fixed on Wednesday as a convenient half-holiday.

Saturday was eliminated, for the reason that closing at noon on that day meant that buying would have to be done for a full two days. The grocers and butchers of Atlanta were not willing to expose their customers to that hardship.

With Wednesday, mid-week, it was different. A half-holiday then would impose the least inconvenience on the housewives of Atlanta. The plan worked admirably last year, and it is no reason why this year would not repeat, since the changing of a long-standing custom is a matter of education only and the ice already has been broken.

The co-operation of the housewives generally of Atlanta is imperative if these hard-worked men and women are to enjoy a summer weekly half-holiday, as do the majority of the city's workers in other lines. The Constitution is sure the practical demonstration of last year will find an equally enthusiastic duplication this year.

GO WITH THE CIVIC TIDE.

The tide of civic sentiment in Atlanta is flowing irresistibly to the success of the greater Grady hospital bond issue.

That fact is manifest from the news columns of every Atlanta paper, from the emphatic talk you hear from every leader of community opinion in Atlanta.

Atlanta never yet has failed in intelligent grasping of a crisis, once its nature was disclosed.

Greater Grady is no exception!

Every element that has worked in harmony for the upbuilding of this city recognizes significance of the need for greater Grady.

Each element has placed its influence solidly behind the campaign for the bond issue that will fill that need.

The doctors.

The business men.

The real estate men.

The property owners.

The club women, embracing all walks of life.

The ministers, of all creeds.

Organized labor.

Responsible negro leaders who know how the death rate crosses the race line.

All and singular of these influences are for greater Grady.

There may be a few opposed, for various reasons, to a bond issue. Some people are opposed to anything—to everything. But even these have not let out a whimper that would positively identify them.

There is only scattered opposition to greater Grady.

There always is a fractional minority opposition in every city to every movement for civic uplift.

That minority vanishes before the "Atlanta Spirit."

That is what has made Atlanta!

So many factional governments in Mexico you can't march a mile without "infringing" somebody.

Mexico first. The remnant of office-seekers will have to do the watchful waiting act.

If the federals try any more of that over-the-border shooting they'll find the place that broke out in Texas long ago.

Congress is willing to work itself to death for its country.

College boys are anxious for war. A few football teams would cut a wide swath in Mexico.

With such names as Guadalajara, Ixmiquilpam, Xochimilco and Zacapoaxtla, the situation becomes more complicated.

The Morning Hills.

I.

The morning hills, high-crowned with light,
Are calling: "Come away!
Gone are the dim dreams of the Night,
The world has found the Day."
And sing the rivers and the rills:
"Come to the blessed morning hills!"

II.

They waft us welcome from afar,
Light's victory is won;
They know the mysteries of each star,
The secrets of the sun.
Glad welcome to the valley thrills:
"Come to the morning of the hills!"

III.

Night's sorrows vanish and we win
The blessedness of Peace;
A world that takes all heaven in—
Life's storms and thunders cease.
And hearts are lifted, as God wills,
To meet Him on the morning hills.

Work Saved Him.

Will Levington Comfort has this personal word of "The Blessedness of Work," in a contribution to The Craftsman:

"I would have been dead long since, and detestable in every detail before the passing, but for the blessedness of work. I have emerged from hideous dissipation—shaking, puerile, as ripe seemingly for the merciful bullet as the insect tortured beast loose in the field to die. Again and again have I been so, yet, by God's good plan, I have found myself once more here, at the machine, as now. I have felt my own body resume life, its wastes and poisons relaxing their death hold, answering the movements which mean life. I have sensed the devils leaving my brain and prevented their return—through this godly guardian, work. Every utterance worth the making from this instrument has done more for me than it could possibly do for another. I love my work. As servant of it I am here, on my way, and all is well."

"They March to the Billville Bands."

I.

The Billville boys are drillin'—
The pride of all the lands;
"Hep to the right,
And on to the fight!"
They march to the Billville bands.

II.

For the bands are playin' "Dixie,"
And willin' hearts and hands
To a hip—hooray
Will march away—
Keep step to the Billville bands!

III.

Three cheers for the boys of Billville!
Each patriot understands
When the flag's in sight
'Tis a joy to fight—
To march to the Billville bands!

Words From the Wayside.

It's hard to beat the opera of the birds, with a front seat on a pine log in a theater with a roof of blossoms.

In springtime the Angels come to picnic on the hills; and they read the dreams of the valleys, and waft the welcome chorus of the birds to the windows of the blue.

The weary world-travelers hear the far-off music of Joy, and they sing along the way to the sweet vales of rest.

The Poet-Patriots.

I.

Not in the rear the poets lag—
About the land they're ravin':
All sorts of poems to the Flag,
An' still the Flag keeps wavin'!
It's just because the Flag don't know
That all o' them are singin' so!

II.

But, give 'em wing, an' let 'em sing—
The humblest tell the story
Of noisy war, an' what it's for—
They're lovers of "Old Glory!"
If they stay by the music long
Some harp may hymn a battle song!

The Songbirds' Sanctuary.

The Uncle Remus Memorial Booklet, Mrs. Myrta Lockett Avary's story of the life of the one-time master and gentle philosopher of "The Wren's Nest," has received high praise from critics and lovers of literature everywhere. It is a heartfelt tribute from one Georgia author to another, and by a Georgia woman to that group of Georgia women and their leader who have preserved "The Wren's Nest" as a memorial to Joel Chandler Harris. It is a very characteristic souvenir of Atlanta—a beautiful story of "A Bird Sanctuary."

* * * * *

Spring Voices.

Voices of sweet springtime
O'er rose-gardens ringing,
And from the old mulberry tree
The sweetest music comes to me—
A mockingbird is singing.

Ready for the Fray.

A patriotic citizen writes to The Adams Enterprise:

"This is to notify my friends and supporters that having organized a volunteer brigade of twenty-five patriotic citizens I shall resign from the race for coroner, in the hope that I'll be appointed colonel, or captain, or something, and hold myself in readiness to move on Mexico at a moment's notice. The call of my country is stronger than the call of a little 2-by-4 office."

The Dream.

Beneath a solemn sky of gray—
No starry lamps in view,
The Night was dreaming of the Day:
God made the dream come true.

All Along the Line With George Fitch

PATAGONIA

Patagonia is the name given to the tail of South America which is about as useful as the "tail" of a porterhouse steak. It is a little larger than the state of Texas and is not overcrowded. Although it has been settled for almost 400 years there is still room for the newcomer to edge in and take up a valley or county or congressional district for a door yard. The population has never been accurately counted because the census enumerators generally wore out a pair of shoes between each house and abandoned the job in disgust, but it is believed that if the Patagonians were to rally as one man they would be sufficiently numerous to make a fair-sized audience at a big league baseball game.

Patagonia is usually supposed to be the home of giant savages who eat the rash visitor in a careless and casual manner. This has given the country a bad name and nobody uses it for a summer resort though the temperature seldom goes above eighty. There are savages in Patagonia, but four hundred years of contact with civilized people has been too hard on them and they only number about 100. As the country is 1,500 miles long by 800 miles wide it would not be hard to dodge these people even if they were not so busy dodging the white man.

Patagonia was formed by nature in an extravagant and careless mood. She scattered mountains over half of it and debris over much of the remainder. Half of the country is only fit to be sold at long range to restless farmers by eloquent land agents and why American real estate men have not seized the golden opportunity to pick this stuff up at one cent an acre, payable in installments and sell it for fine wheat and orchard land is a mystery. It is so unlike them.

Patagonia belongs mostly to Argentine and can be reached by dropping overboard on the way of Cape Horn and swimming ashore—though there are a few railroads in the northern part. It is a dreary fizzle as a country and the hardy settlers who are trying to make it boom are as lonely as an ex-republican boss in congress.

BOWLING

When Englishmen come to this country, they wonder, out loud, what Americans do for exercise during the long, cold winter months. And unless they get a chance to hang on a street car strap or visit a bowling alley, they never find out.

Bowling is the great American winter game, next to discussing baseball averages. The game consists of trying to knock down ten wooden pins with a large ball. The pins are set in a flock at the end of an alley which looks as long as the sidewalk to the New Jerusalem to the man who tries to roll a sixteen pound ball down its middle for the first time. The ball is of wood or hard rubber and is of about the same size and consistency as the head of an old-fashioned railroad magnate.

Bowling appears to be a trifling game to the man who has not tried it. The pins look as thick and as large as a pine forest. However, the man who stands up at the end of the tenth frame with a full count to get in order to win for his team and only a single pin standing frequently feels that he is shooting at a knitting needle in the next county. It is possible to make a score of 300 with twelve shots. It is also possible to accumulate 65 pins with twenty-four shots. This latter is much more frequently done. There are only a few 300 men in this country and they are usually pointed out to visitors by their admiring friends.

Bowling is full of strikes like baseball, but they bring joy and peace to the bowler and swell his score instead of causing him to gnash his teeth wildly and attempt to assassinate the umpire with a cruel word. Bowling is also full of "spares," "splits," "railroads," "turkeys," "poodles" and good nature. It is most noted for the latter product. Bowling is the best natured game in the world. Only a few men are able to get mad at their fellow beings while bowling and these ought to be quarantined for hydrophobia. The good nature in bowling comes from the fact that there is nothing to dispute over. The game doesn't even need an umpire. After a man has bowled ten games with a total stranger, the two are life-long friends. If bowling could only be introduced into politics in some manner like the primary and other improvements, it would take away much of the hard feeling now existing.

Bowling is said to be a cure for appendicitis and other diseases of the digestion. If this is true the bowling ball is the largest pill now in medical use.

URGES PEACE RATHER THAN WAR VICTORY

Editor Constitution: May it not be well when we seem to be on the threshold of a great war to stop and take the second thought? And if we do this we may see that the Mexican situation is a world affair. We shall hail a successful issue if it can be brought about by the mediation by the three South American nations that have offered their service; but, if it cannot be, what is to hinder a few of the great nations of the world joining with them and with us and demanding not only a proper recognition of our honor, but that Mexico's own fratricidal war shall cease and that foundations be laid for a responsible and reputable government?

There is much reason for such a course as this, for while the political and commercial interest of the United States is predominant, her interest is shared with other nations. The commercial interests in Mexico of Great Britain or even of France are greater than those of all the South American nations combined. The investments of the United States in Mexico amount to $1,057,000,000; Mexican investments are quoted as being $793,000,000; English, $321,000,000; French, $143,000,000; all others, $118,000,000.

In the year 1900 the United States cooperated with Japan, Russia, Germany, Great Britain and France in the expedition sent to restore order at Peking, China. Seeing that other nations have large investments in Mexico, why would it not be well to invite them to join us in settling Mexico's problem? Mexico may resent this interference, but the interests other nations have there demand it. Nor would it conflict with the Monroe Doctrine, as it would have no purpose of conquering territory upon this continent.

This international course is suggested only on the ground that the present one may fail; the aim is to show to the world that though we are strong enough to maintain our honor by war, we are wise enough to win by methods of peace.

J. J. HALL,
Secretary Georgia Peace Society.

The Power of Pain.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Have you ever been to the School of Pain? If you never have, your education is lacking in one of the great branches that make it really an Education.

Pain modulates the Heart and compels the Body to realize that it is subject to a Higher Power, after all.

Pain brings out Sweetness of character where Bitterness was! Pain polishes the rough places of a man's make-up and reveals characteristics that he, even, hardly dreamed he possessed; Pain enlarges a man.

Pain not only takes hold upon your Body but also, at times upon your Mind. Mental Pain is more terrible than any other possible Pain. For every physical factor and member must sooner or later pay price to it.

So, if Pain must come, look your friend Grit in the face and bear all courageously.

Be not afraid to learn through experience The Power of Pain.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

"RUFE" HUTCHENS' ENTRY THE TALK OF STATE POLITICIANS MONDAY

The virtual announcement of "Rufe" Hutchens as a candidate to succeed the late A. O. Bacon as United States senator was the political sensation of Monday, and everywhere one went it was the sole topic of conversation.

Mr. Hutchens has always been closely aligned with the so-called Joe Brown faction of the democratic party in Georgia, and has been a strong personal and political friend of Governor Slaton, who is also making the race. Therefore, the fact that he is going to be a candidate is all the more surprising.

Mr. Hutchens was a member of the prison commission and more recently managed the Oscar Underwood campaign for president in Georgia. His work in this connection brought him into national prominence.

For a time it looked as if the gubernatorial contest would overshadow the senatorial race, on account of the number of candidates in the field; but at the present time it would seem that fully as many candidates for senator will be in the field as there will be candidates in the running for the governor's chair.

In fact it would appear that politicians with senatorial aspirations are more numerous than those seeking to be governor. The proportion to date is as three to two. There are four openly announced candidates for the United States senate, with two more who may publish their announcements at any moment—Slaton, Felder, Hardwick and Cooper, with W. D. Upshaw and "Rufe" Hutchens in the latter category. J. Randolph Anderson and L. G. Hardman have announced for governor—that is, formally announced—and a host of aspirants are almost persuaded.

Some half a dozen or more politicians are expected to arrive in the city early this week and the crop of openly avowed candidates may be materially augmented at any moment.

J. A. J. HENDERSON IN THE RACE FOR CONGRESS IN ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Valdosta, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Hon. J. A. J. Henderson, of Ocilla, will be a candidate for congress from the eleventh district. This may be definitely and positively stated, in view of developments of the past week, though Mr. Henderson will probably not make a formal announcement of his candidacy under ten days or two weeks.

He spent Friday in Valdosta looking into the sentiment here and expressed himself as greatly pleased over the reception given him. Mr. Henderson has already been into practically every county in the district, but stated that he would make another visit to the eastern and northern tier of counties before making a formal announcement.

It comes from an authoritative source that neither Judge Quincey, of Douglas, nor Judge Parker, of Waycross, will enter the race this year, confirming the forecast made in The Constitution last Sunday that the field will be left to Mr. Henderson and Congressman Randall Walker. Hon. W. L. Converse, of Valdosta, has given out no further intimation of his intention, but the impression has been strengthened that he will not run.

Mr. Henderson's friends claim that both Judge Quincey and Judge Parker will be active supporters of Mr. Henderson. Congressman Walker's friends all over the district are stirring themselves actively in his behalf. The stirring events in congress will make it impracticable for Mr. Walker to leave Washington for many weeks, possibly, but in the meantime his friends are looking after his "fences," and taking care of his interests.

Governor Slaton's address to the people of Georgia, setting forth the principles on which he will make the race for the senate, was received with favor throughout this section. The outlook is that he will carry Lowndes by a very heavy vote, while he is strong in all of the central south Georgia counties.

Mr. Felder and Mr. Hardwick are strangers in a sense to the people of this section. It would take remarkable campaigning to overcome the popularity and prestige of Governor Slaton.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETED FOR FLOYD COUNTY PRIMARY

Rome, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been perfected for the Floyd county primary, which takes place on Tuesday, April 28.

There are four unopposed candidates: W. J. Nunnally, for judge of Floyd city court; D. W. Simmons, for clerk of Floyd superior court; T. B. Owens, for treasurer, and R. L. Brown, for surveyor.

The other candidates are: For coroner, L. D. B. Aycock, John W. Miller; for county commissioner from third district, J. Scott Davis and W. O. Connor; for county commissioner from fourth district, T. C. Griffin, T. H. Mull and J. V. Sullivan; for tax collector, John M. Vandiver and L. G. Todd; for tax receiver, J. Tom Jenkins, T. B. Hendricks and Zack Salmon; for sheriff, J. R. Barron and W. G. Dunehoo. All of these races are hotly contested.

CHATTOOGA NOMINEE FOR SHERIFF TO BE OPPOSED IN ELECTION

Summerville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—J. W. Alexander, nominee of the democratic primary of Chattooga county, for sheriff, will have opposition in the election to be held in October. T. M. Anderson has announced his candidacy in opposition to the nominee. Alexander defeated two other candidates in last week's primary.

MANY CONNECTED WITH UNIVERSITY RUNNING FOR STATE OFFICES

Athens, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Friends of the University at Athens will have several candidates to select from—among those associated in one way or another with the institution. Dr. Hardman, candidate for governor, is a member of the board of trustees of the State College of Agriculture; Judge N. E. Harris is head of the Tech board and ex-officio member of the board of trustees of the university; Governor Slaton, candidate for the senate, is a member of the board of trustees of the university also.

Hon. John Holder, candidate for congress from the ninth, was here Friday, remained over his train time and then wanted to get back to Jefferson—with only two minutes—and a mile between him and the departure of the Gainesville Midland. Judge McWhorter suggested that he "borrow" an automobile from the number parked in the street—which he did, picking up by chance a young man who could operate it. The trip to the station was made in record time.

Meantime the owner of the machine found it gone and reported the "theft" to the police. As he went to show the police where the machine had stood—it was visible—having been returned while the owner went for an officer.

The owner of the machine is a candidate also—O. H. Arnold, Jr., offering as a running mate to J. F. Rhodes for the legislature from Clarke. He has two brothers in the legislature and is making a hard fight—so he sympathized with Mr. Holder, the former speaker, and was glad to have served him even "unbeknownst."

WANTS CITIES TO BUY NATIVE GEORGIA BEEF

Editor Constitution: Allow me to congratulate you on your recent editorial, the "Wrong Cattle Policy."

As you say, this is one of the most serious problems that confronts Georgia today. With meat as scarce as it is it is very wrong to sell breeding cattle. However, you folks in the big cities can stop this to a large extent by providing a good market for beef cattle and hogs.

When a city like Atlanta discriminates against Georgia raised hogs you cannot much blame Georgia farmers for being willing to sell their cattle and hogs outside of the state, no matter what the ultimate result may be. It is a question of present livelihood, rather than future economics. However, when great papers like yours are awakened to the urgency of the question, its solution is only a matter of a short time.

Keep up the good fight. We commercial secretaries appreciate what you are doing, as, indeed, do the whole people of Georgia.

The cities seem to have lost sight of the development of the country, and today the question in Georgia is not one of diversification, but market for products already diversified.

The farmer is ahead of the market problem.

WALTERS IS CONVICTED OF KIDNAPING THE BOY

He Is Found Guilty Without Capital Punishment—Appeal to Be Taken.

Opelousas, La., April 27.—"Guilty, without capital punishment," was the verdict returned by the jury here today in district court in the trial of W. C. Walters, itinerant tinker, charged with kidnaping 5-year-old Robert Dunbar. Under the laws of Louisiana the verdict is equivalent to life imprisonment.

The verdict legally determines the identity of the boy taken from Walters at the time of his arrest and legally clears a mystery that presented many unusual phases, including the ability of a mother to identify her own son. It means that the youth claimed as their son will remain in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunbar here, where he has been since the arrest of Walters more than a year ago, and that Julia Anderson, now ill in a New Orleans hospital, was mistaken when she testified at the trial that the boy was her son.

Day One of Excitement.

A single peal from the courthouse bell announced to the populace of Opelousas late this afternoon that the jury had reached a verdict after deliberating since 11 o'clock this morning, at which time Judge Pavy had concluded the delivery of his charge and the jury had retired. The day had been full of intense excitement here. Sheriff Swords had placed guns in the parish jail in order to be prepared for any emergency.

The finding of the jury does not end the litigation. Counsel for Walters have announced that if the usual motion for a new trial is overruled they will appeal to the supreme court of the state.

Walters was arrested April 20, 1913, nearly eight months after Robert Dunbar disappeared from a fishing camp on the banks of Lake Swayze. At the time of his arrest he was accompanied by a boy who Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunbar had identified as their lost child, but who Walters claimed was Bruce Anderson, illegitimate son of Julia Anderson. He claimed the woman had entrusted the boy to his care, and she later identified him as her son.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunbar returned to Opelousas with the boy after the arrest of Walters, and the town turned out to welcome them. Public receptions and a parade were features of the home-coming.

Doubt About Identity.

So much doubt existed as to the identity of the boy taken from the tinker that Governor Brewer, of Mississippi, refused to honor the requisition of the governor of Louisiana for the return of Walters to that state until he had held a test. John M. Parker, of New Orleans, appointed by Governor Brewer to represent him in the inquiry, after hearing the testimony of a number of persons, ruled that the boy was Robert Dunbar.

Governor Brewer then honored the requisition, but attorneys for Walters appealed to the supreme court of Mississippi, which, on January 12, 1914, ordered the extradition of Walters to Opelousas for trial. The trial began here April 13, and for the two weeks that it continued, held closely the attention of the people of two states.

"Vice Squad" Members Will Be Busy This Week Caring for Opera Crowds

Police Chief James L. Beavers detailed Monday the sixteen members of his vice squad to take care of the large crowds attending grand opera this week.

Ten of the plain clothes policemen, under the leadership of Sergeant Bullard, head of the vice squad, have again adorned themselves in the clothes of a regular "cop," and will be stationed at the Auditorium at each opera to keep order. The remaining six plain clothes members of the vice squad, aided by four detectives, will be on guard to look out for crooks and pickpockets who, as a rule, flock to places where large crowds assemble for the purpose of reaping a harvest by picking pockets of easy marks.

Over 10,000 Taxpayers Fail to Make Returns To Receiver for Year

The announcement that more than 10,000 taxpayers had failed to make their annual returns this year was made Monday afternoon by the county tax receiver, T. M. Armistead. The books close this afternoon.

The books have formerly been open until June, but the closing time was made two months earlier this year. The tax receiver urges that all taxpayers make their returns at once in order to avoid complications.

HON. J. G. CAMP LECTURES AT THE CENTRAL BAPTIST

Dr. Caleb Ridley, pastor of the Central Baptist church, is putting on a series of popular lectures for the benefit and entertainment of his people and their friends. Hon. Joseph G. Camp will open the series next Friday evening at 8:15 with his great chautauqua lecture, "Daughters of Eve." The doors will open at 7:30 p. m. and Mr. Camp will begin his lecture at 8:15.

Professor Walter E. Rodgers, the newly elected musical director of the church, will render a special selection just before Mr. Camp begins his lecture. The lecture is open to all. The church can seat 1,000.

DROWNS IN SATILLA DESPITE EFFORTS OF HIS COMPANION

Waycross, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) In a spot where five others have lost their lives in recent years, Bennie Miller, 18 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Miller, today was drowned in the Satilla river near here.

Tom Brittain was in the river with him and came near losing his life in an effort to save Miller.

The two were floating, holding to a boat. The boat was leaky and while in deep water sank. Miller could not swim and went under taking Brittain with him. Coming up the first time, Brittain got loose from Miller and then tried to recover him.

The party were out for a picnic celebrating the holiday given in observance of Memorial day. Young Miller was an employee of the First National bank, and is the second employee of the bank to drown in the Satilla in the past five years.

18 PERSONS INJURED IN RAILROAD WRECK

Two Coaches of a Coast Line Train Are Derailed in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., April 27.—Eighteen persons were injured, some of them painfully though none fatally, it is believed, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, near Wilson, when two rear coaches of the Atlantic Coast Line train No. 48, Wilmington to Norfolk, were derailed.

Those worst injured were placed in a hospital at Wilson and the others were cared for at Rocky Mount.

The injured: Dr. B. T. Person, postmaster at Wilson, knee caps fractured; A. L. Jackson, Elm City, back, arms and head injured; Mrs. R. O. Martin and infant child, thrown through window and both cut about face; three other children of Mrs. Martin, cut and bruised; Captain J. A. Donnell, Norfolk, Pullman car conductor, scalp wound; Mrs. N. A. Culbreth, Wilmington, possibly injured internally; Ed Frances Bennett, little nephew of Mrs. Culbreth, cuts on arm; Will Lancaster, Black Creek, leg cut; E. E. Mason, Black Creek, leg cut; A. H. Edgerton, Goldsboro, scalp wound; Fred Horne, Black Creek, foot cut by falling ax; William Aycock, Wilson, scalp wound; Mrs. J. E. Grady, Kenly, back hurt; Mrs. S. B. Moore, Wilson, face and head cut; Miss Alma Miller, Shelby, head and knee injured.

Defect in rail is thought to have been cause of derailment.

WHEATLEY CHOSEN HEAD OF GROUP FOUR BANKERS

Columbus, Ga., April 27.—(Special.) Group four of the Georgia Bankers' association held its annual meeting here today, a large number of bankers being in attendance. Americus was chosen as the meeting place of the association next year. Crawford Wheatley, of Americus, was chosen as chairman of the group, and Thomas Dixon, of Montezuma, was chosen as secretary.

The meeting here today was presided over by A. W. Hals, of Columbus, with R. E. McNulty, of Americus, as secretary. Hon. Rhodes Browne, of Columbus, delivered the welcome address, which was responded to by W. C. Lanier, of West Point. Other addresses were delivered by L. P. Hillyer, of Macon, F. S. Etheridge of Jackson and Judge A. W. Cozart of Columbus.

After business had been concluded the visitors were shown a good time. In the afternoon they attended the ball game between Columbus and Albany.

The convention indorsed L. P. Hillyer, of Macon, as director of regional reserve bank to be established in Atlanta. Judge A. W. Cozart was chosen to represent the group at the Georgia Bankers' association in Atlanta May 9.

PROFESSOR J. W. HART HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Athens, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Professor J. William Hart, professor of dairy husbandry at the State College of Agriculture, and working also under the extension system of the federal government, has tendered his resignation to Dr. Soule, president of the college, and will go in a few days to Jekyl Island to take special work for a great land company there—farming, fishing and forestry interests to be looked after.

Professor Hart has been wonderfully effective in the past year, especially in the matter of interesting Georgia farmers in soil construction and silage value. The offer of the place at Jekyl afforded much better compensation than the professors at the state college.

W. A. GREER WILL HEAD TURNER COUNTY BOARD

Ashburn, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Hon. W. A. Greer, of Ashburn, today defeated Dr. W. L. Dixon, of Rebecca, for commissioner of roads and revenues of Turner county by a majority of 216 votes.

The special election was held today to fill the unexpired term of Hon. R. L. Betts, who recently resigned as chairman of the board of commissioners, and was one of the hottest political contests since the creation of the county. Mr. Greer will assume the duties as chairman of the board at once.

SALOONS HELD LIABLE FOR MAKING DRUNKARDS

Washington, April 27.—Finding no constitutional objection to a law making saloonkeepers liable for damages resulting from their sale of liquor, the supreme court today dismissed the appeal of Louis W. Prenica, a saloonist of Nebraska City, Neb., from a judgment of the Nebraska courts, holding him liable in the sum of $5,000 to Mrs. May Bulger for her husband becoming an habitual drunkard.

HEARINGS ARE CLOSED ON THE TOLLS QUESTION

Big Fight on Repeal Will Be Made on Floor of the Senate.

Washington, April 27.—Hearings on the bill to repeal the free tolls provision of the Panama canal act were closed tonight, and the senate canals committee tomorrow will begin consideration in executive session of a report to the senate. The committee was said tonight to be about evenly divided for and against repeal. Chairman O'Gorman thought the executive deliberations might last two days, but it seemed practically certain that a majority will favor some sort of report so that the measure may be brought before the open senate this week.

Senator Simmons, who has been prominent in the fight for repeal, said the committee might report the bill with an amendment which would declare in substance that the United States waives no rights over the canal.

Others suggested that, owing to the division in the committee, a report without any recommendation whatever could be looked for. In any case the big fight on repeal will be made on the senate floor, where the debate is expected to last several weeks.

The hearings of the committee began April 9, and continued without interruption until tonight. Scores of witnesses were heard, and many arguments, economic and legal, were presented.

Joseph N. Teal, of Portland, Ore., on behalf of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and other Pacific coast trade organizations, protested against the repeal. R. H. Phillips, of Kensington, Md., expressed the opinion that the proper yankee way for the democrats to get out of a bad hole the republicans had placed them in was to exempt all ships passing through the canal from one coast of North or South America to the other coast.

F. A. Jones, member of the Arizona state corporation commission, said that the inter-mountain country was just as much interested in free tolls as the Pacific coast. President Dodson, of the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce, favored repeal of tolls exemption.

Judge Holds Two Women On Complaint of a Girl After "Vice Squad" Raid

The charge that a 15-year-old girl, Pearl Preis, of 382 Whitehall street, had been inveigled into a house of "bad reputation," at 216 South Pryor street, stirred Judge Nash Broyles in police court, Monday afternoon, and for punishment of the alleged guilty parties he fined Mrs. Edna Peters and Mrs. C. H. Shambrough, who, according to the testimony of witnesses, ran the house, $50.75 each, and bound them over together for trial by the superior court, under a $500 bond each.

The young girl appeared in court and testified that she went to the house Sunday night with Mrs. Shambrough, not knowing the reputation the house held.

Two young men, who were at the house at the time, were also arrested, and they were fined $25.75 each. Their names were A. H. Paddison and J. A. Donaldson.

MRS. STILES BRADLEY IS ROBBED ON TRAIN

Athens, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Mrs. Stiles Bradley, wife of the former preacher of Trinity Methodist church in Atlanta, and now of Massachusetts, was robbed of more than $100 in cash, every penny she had with her, on a Seaboard Air Line train just before reaching Athens late Saturday night. The train encountered a burned trestle south of this place and backed to the station here, most of the passengers spending the night in Athens. Mrs. Bradley discovered that she had lost every cent of cash she had along. Colonel and Mrs. H. C. Erwin, on the train, invited her to spend the night here.

THREE NEGRO CONVICTS INJURED BY EXPLOSION

Macon, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Three negro convicts were seriously injured here this afternoon by an explosion at the scene of the bridge work at Seven Bridges, on the Houston road. Tom Patterson, serving a forty-year term, from Jefferson county, who was packing powder in a hole, will lose his eyesight, and will be otherwise badly disfigured. Marshall Wimberly, a life-termer, from Houston county, and William Warren, serving a six-year term, from Bibb county, were both badly burned about the face and hands. How the powder became ignited is not known. All three men are in the hospital.

TOLL IN LIFE TAKEN BY THE TEXAS FLOODS

Dallas, Texas, April 27.—First toll in life was taken late today by the spring flood gathering generally over Texas as the result of three days' heavy rain.

Thomas McIntyre, aged 12, of Dallas, was the first victim of the freshet. He drowned when he slipped and fell into Mill creek, ordinarily a small stream, but now greatly swollen.

Predictions tonight by government weather bureaus for continued rain caused warnings to persons in low lying sections, many of whom have already moved to higher ground.

At Waco, Dallas and Waxachie today rescuers were forced to go to the relief of persons caught in their houses by rising water. From two to six inches of rain was reported over the entire northern part of the state with varying amounts in south Texas, government reports showing practically the entire state receiving some precipitation.

Weakened trestles and washouts have interrupted railroad schedules.

HE IS FINED 6 1-4 CENTS AND GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Pittsburg, April 27.—Dr. C. C. Meredith, who was arrested some weeks ago in a sensational raid upon a private maternity hospital, known as "The House of Mystery," pleaded guilty to malpractice today and was fined 6¼ cents and sentenced to not less than five nor more than six years in the western penitentiary. The fine was imposed so that the costs would fall upon the accused.

Memorial at Thomasville.

Thomasville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Today was observed as Memorial day in Thomasville, and the banks and schools were closed during the day and the stores during the time of the exercises in the afternoon.

Owing to the illness of his wife, the Rev. O. F. Cook, of this city, who had been chosen as orator of the day, was unable to deliver the address, but a pleasant program of exercises was carried out. At 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the procession of Daughters of the Confederacy, Children of the Confederacy, veterans, members of various orders and citizens, formed at the confederate monument on Broad street and marched to the cemetery.

Sowing Crimson Clover.

This is from Portsmouth, Virginia: "Could I sow crimson clover seed in corn at the last working in late June?"

You could doubtless sow it, but the chances are that you would fail to get the clover sown that early. Better sow peas in the corn and cut the corn and cure in shocks and either cut or disk down the peas and sow the clover-seed in September or October.—W. F. Massey, in The Progressive Farmer.

War Will Stop Queen.

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 27.—Queen Eleanora, of Bulgaria, has decided to cancel her proposed visit to the United States in case of war between the United States and Mexico. Her majesty had contemplated sailing for America at the end of May.

Time Is Short, You Must Hurry If You Would Win a Free Auto

One of the most important facts in The Constitution's $25,000 free-gift campaign is that every energetic candidate who enters this contest is guaranteed a prize.

The Constitution is not only the leading daily paper of Georgia, but is considered one of the leading papers in the nation. The high standing and things for which The Constitution stands make it the most popular paper in the state of Georgia and surrounding territory.

Those who enter the $25,000 free-gift campaign will find that they will have little or no trouble in securing votes, and votes win the prizes.

Now is the opportune time for you to register for your share of the large list of valuable awards The Constitution proposes to distribute shortly.

Among the prizes listed are thirteen handsome motor cars and nine $750 Ludden & Bates self-player pianos. And many cash prizes will also be given away.

Simply send in your name to the contest department of The Constitution. Thus you will be registered as a nominee for honors in the contest just being launched. Detailed information will be furnished you immediately as to how to proceed further.

In a way, it is a very simple matter to become a successful candidate. The awards are to be made to contestants according to the number of votes they procure during the few weeks the contest lasts. Votes are given free with subscriptions to The Constitution, and the costly prizes will be presented to those of the candidates who get the largest number of votes during the short time the contests lasts.

Chance for All.

No matter where a prospective candidate lives within the state of Georgia or contiguous territory, she has an opportunity to get one of these awards. The territory has been divided and the awards allotted by such equitable arrangement that the efforts of any candidate in any part of the territory should net that candidate desired results.

No cost or obligation of any kind whatever is attached to the nomination of any candidate. The awards are all free, and all who so desire may compete for them. Nothing beyond the ability of any wide-awake, ambitious person is required.

The boy or girl, the man or woman who exercises these attributes of character, with an engaging personality, has all of the elements of success.

Spirit of Fairness.

In the spirit of all fairness this contest was conceived, and will be so carried out. A fair field and no favor is offered freely to all candidates. All are treated exactly alike—and may the best ones win.

It is within your power to obtain the very highest award offered. The determination to succeed is half the battle won. Do not delay, but act at once.

Write the contest department of The Constitution, and it will enlighten you upon any matter not clear to you, either by sending a personal representative to see you or instructing you by mail.

All those who do not win one of the above-named valuable prizes will be paid a cash prize at the rate of $10 for every $100 of new subscriptions turned in during the campaign. There will be no blank or failure to those who turn in $100 or more in new subscriptions.

Rockhill Employed by China.

Peking, April 27.—William Woodville Rockhill, former United States ambassador to Turkey, has accepted an engagement from President Yuan Shi Kai as adviser-at-large for the Chinese government at a salary reliably reported to amount to $1,000 monthly.

PROSECUTOR IS MADE DEFENDANT BY JUDGE

Charges Against Woman Preferred by W. J. Archbell Prove Boomerang.

Judge Nash Broyles proved himself a detective Monday afternoon in police court when he preferred charges of white slavery against W. J. Archbell, 55 years of age, of 115 Courtland street, who was prosecuting Mrs. Violette Golden, 30 and pretty, of 46 East Ellis street, claiming that Mrs. Golden had stolen some valuable jewelry from him.

Judge Broyles, by questions, brought out the facts from Archbell that in company with Mrs. Golden he had traveled over the greater part of the country, the two living as man and wife. Judge Broyles dismissed the larceny charges against the woman. The evidence was corroborated by several passionate love letters from Archbell.

Judge Broyles ordered that both parties be held for investigation by federal authorities.

Knowledge and Integrity

are two things that must enter into the optical business. Combining these two with high-grade workmanship, careful attention, honest dealings, and the grinding of the greater portion of prescriptions written for glasses by our better oculists, has fully demonstrated the fact that there is something indescribable about the way in which we conduct our business that few opticians have been able to understand. We know when glasses are suited to your eyes, and if you need the service of an oculist we will so advise, but positively will not accept your money without satisfaction from us. Just ask anybody if this is true.

Mrs. Hickey's Luncheon.

Mrs. James E. Hickey gave a beautiful luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club yesterday in honor of Mrs. Stanley, Dent, of Washington, D. C., her guest. The party of thirty-six was seated about a round table, which had radiant decorations in the deep pink of the Chatney rose.

In the center was a circular plateau of roses showered in swansonia, while from the center arose a tall vase from which there fell clusters of roses from a shower bouquet.

Bouquets held the roses and swansonia, and their handles tied with bows of pink tulle. The candlesticks had pink shades, and the bonbons were in that color.

Mrs. Hickey wore a smart toilet in brown chiffon trimmed in taffeta, the same color. Mrs. Dent wore a wistaria crepe gown embroidered, and her hat was trimmed in shaded wistaria.

The guests were Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mrs. Harrison Bleckley, Mrs. W. C. Royer, Mrs. Reed Hobson, Mrs. Kenneth Murchison of New York, Mrs. Henry Tanner, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Hurcamp, Mrs. Charles Sisson, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Albert Howell, Mrs. Robert Alston, Mrs. Robert Smythe, Mrs. O'Neill of Charleston, Mrs. Thomas B. Paine, Mrs. John Goddard, Mrs. Edward Peters, Mrs. Ehney, Mrs. Floyd McRae, Mrs. Thomas Hinman, Mrs. George Crandall, Mrs. Edward H. Barnes, Mrs. Willis Westmoreland, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. Charles Sciple, Mrs. Theodore Hammond, Mrs. Henry Miller, Mrs. J. B. Castleman.

For Visitors.

Mrs. Thornton Marye entertained at three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Frank Bethune, of New Orleans, and for Mrs. John Phillips, of New Orleans, and other out-of-town friends who are here for the opera.

Flame-colored wild azaleas decorated the rooms, and a basket of the same flowers decorated the tea table.

Mrs. Marye was gowned in lavender crepe.

Reception at Seminary.

The Washington Seminary Alumnae association has issued invitations to a reception May 9, from 5 to 7, to meet the graduating class, 1374 Peachtree road.

At Knollwood.

Mrs. William H. Kiser was hostess at a beautiful party yesterday at her picturesque country home, Knollwood, when she entertained seventy-five guests in honor of Mrs. Emory Winship, of Macon, and Miss Casey, who arrived in the city yesterday for opera week.

Dogwood blossoms, in their graceful branch and blossom, were everywhere used as decorative background. They were on the porches and within the house in the living room and dining room, while the rose tints of the wild azalea were to be seen in the artistic scheme.

In the dining room, where dainty refreshments were served, the table had as centerpiece a beautiful arrangement of red honeysuckle. The candle shades were in the same color, and on the buffet and serving table was the varicolored honeysuckle. There was music to add to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Mrs. Kiser was a charming hostess and wore a becoming toilet in cerise chiffon over white satin.

Mrs. Winship and Miss Casey were in the receiving line with her, and assisting in the entertainment of the guests were Mrs. Peel, Mrs. Tilt and Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun.

Mrs. Gordon Guest of Honor

Mrs. Gordon, of Columbus, the popular guest of Mrs. J. K. Orr, was the guest of honor at the delightful luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Frank Inman at the Piedmont Driving club. The table decorations were in purple iris and yellow daisies. There was a large basket in the center of the table tied with purple tulle. Smaller baskets were placed at intervals on the table, and the candlesticks had shades of yellow.

Mrs. Inman wore midnight blue brocade silk. The guests were: Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Charles C. Magehee, Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, Mrs. B. B. Crew, Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. Frank Hawkins, Mrs. Junius G. Ogiesby, Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mrs. Don Pardee, Mrs. George Forrester, Mrs. J. M. High, Mrs. Lee Jordan, Mrs. L. D. Tyson of Knoxville, Mrs. W. T. Newman and Mrs. Hugh Willet.

Atlanta People at Sarasota.

Mrs. Charles L. Gately, of Atlanta, is visiting in Sarasota for a few days. Mrs. Gately is completely captivated with the beauties of Sarasota and environment. One day was spent motoring through the pine forests and visiting numerous orange groves and vegetable gardens. Another day was spent in visiting the gulf beach and the numerous villas and beauty spots along the shores of Sarasota bay. Mrs. Gately is most decided in her opinion that Sarasota is destined to become one of the most notable watering places anywhere in the world.

B. Mifflin Hood and wife, of Atlanta, who have been on an extended automobile trip in their locomobile car, were in Sarasota two days this week kingfishing.

George W. Winship and wife, of Atlanta, who have spent the winter very pleasantly in Sarasota, have just returned to their home.

To Dr. and Mrs. Barker.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Bates Block entertained delightfully at luncheon yesterday in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Barker, of Baltimore, the party including Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Arnold, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke.

Mrs. Block selected white flowers from her own gardens to decorate the tables, the centerpiece a loving cup filled with white roses and fern. Silver vases had white rosebuds, and the candlesticks had shades of green.

The entire house was filled with blooming flower sprays from the old-fashioned spirea, filling vases on the mantels and cabinets.

Mrs. Block wore a becoming toilet in white chiffon with sash of apple green silk.

Elks' Ball.

An informal dance will be given by Atlanta lodge, No. 78, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at their beautiful home, No. 40 East Ellis street, Tuesday evening, beginning at 9 o'clock. This is the first of a series of subscription dances given under the auspices of the new entertainment committee, which is composed of the following Elks: Mr. Henry Williamson, Albert Steinheimer, Walter L. Dunn, C. L. McHan and F. M. Brotherton.

All Elks in good standing and especially visiting Elks are cordially invited to attend this dance.

Delightful refreshments will be served during the evening, and Wurm's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mrs. Nelson's Tea.

Mrs. Henry P. Nelson entertained twenty-five guests at tea yesterday afternoon in compliment to her sister, Mrs. W. R. Wills, of Nashville, who is her guest for the week. Dogwood blossoms and pink azaleas attractively decorated the apartments and a large silver loving cup filled with pink roses was in the center of the tea table.

Miss Mary Nelson poured tea. Mrs. Nelson wore black charmeuse satin, and Mrs. Wills wore white lace.

For Miss Hunt.

Mrs. Ferris will entertain at tea Thursday afternoon at the Georgian Terrace for Miss Louise Hunt, of Knoxville, the guest of Miss Aimee Hunnicutt.

The Charm of Mme. Amato.

Pasquale Amato and his charming wife occupied a box at the opera last night, and were the recipients of many attentions. Mme. Amato wore a becoming toilet of blue charmeuse satin draped with blue brocaded chiffon.

At Capital City Club.

After the opera last evening 400 people were entertained at supper at the Capital City club.

The gentlemen's and ladies' cafes were thrown into one banqueting hall and richly decorated with potted palms and spring flowers.

At the center table Mr. and Mrs. Peel and the officers of the Musical association and their wives, and Mr. Robert Maddox and the officers of the club, presided and were the hosts of the grand opera stars. The long table was decorated in red roses and fern, and at other tables were the various box parties, many combing into parties of twelve and more.

Among the hosts of the evening were: Edward Barnett, Joseph Brown Connally, W. A. Speer, James L. Dickey, Edward Inman, John D. Little, Frank S. Ellis, Willis E. Ragan, Reed Hobson, Frank Inman, Victor Smith, John Murphy, Robert J. Lowry, Edward H. Barnes, Henry Newman, Clarence Blosser, E. H. Backer, R. L. Graves, John McDougald, Thornton Marye, Cam Dorsey, S. M. Inman, Lowry Arnold, F. M. Calloway, W. J. Morrison, Evelyn Harris, Arthur Clark, Eugene Haynes, John A. Brice, E. E. Thornton, H. L. Watkins, B. L. Bugg, D. Manley, J. O. Wynn, E. L. Bishop, Montague Boyd, W. S. Elkin, Harry English, M. S. Harper, James E. Hickey, Holbins Randolph, Charles E. Sciple, E. R. Austin, W. W. Croxton, Lauren Foreman, J. Carrol Payne, Hugh Richardson, Reuben Arnold, H. L. Graves, S. Y. Tupper, Thomas Egleston, Emory Winship, of Macon; Paul F. Reese, William R. Prescott, J. F. Meador, Harry Stearnes, J. D. Rhodes, J. H. Lewis, T. J. Lyon, Edward Dougherty, Billups Phinizy, Athens; H. C. Caldwell, Roby Robinson, Clark Howell, Albert Howell, Harry Atkinson, George Brine, F. L. Woodruff, Louisville, Ky.; Willis W. Westmoreland, John M. Slaton, R. M. Reid, L. W. Werner, James T. Williams, Keats Speed, W. C. Hall, Henderson Hallman.

Mrs. Hunt's Luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Hunt entertained at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at her home on Myrtle street in compliment to her guest, Mrs. Francis Lord, of Mississippi, and for Mrs. Waring Carrington, of Charleston, the guest of Mrs. Gilham Morrow.

Pink azaleas decorated the library and in the living room snowballs and sweet peas were used and in the dining room a decorative scheme of pink was carried out. A large silver bowl filled with pink sweet peas was in the center of the tables, from which sweets were served. Silver candlesticks had pink unshaded candles and the cakes, ices and bonbons were pink. The buffet and mantel were banked with pink azaleas, sweet peas and ferns. Punch was served on the front porch, which was inclosed and decorated with dogwood and azaleas.

Mrs. Hunt wore white embroidered crepe; Mrs. Lord wore midnight blue Japanese silk and Mrs. Carrington's gown was figured Dresden crepe trimmed in canary lace, and her hat was black. About sixty guests were entertained.

For College Girls.

A bright occasion of yesterday was the luncheon given by Mrs. John Marshall Slaton at her summer home on Peachtree road, for the eighty members of the senior class of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college at Milledgeville, who are here for the opera season. A profusion of spring flowers artistically decorated the house.

Mrs. Slaton was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. D. Grant.

SHOWERS PROMISED FOR ATLANTA DURING THE NEXT 48 HOURS

The presence of a moderate storm over Oklahoma and the absence of high pressure on the south Atlantic coast give promise of showers at Atlanta during the next forty-eight hours. Most of the rain will probably occur on Tuesday in the form of moderate thunder showers. The temperature will be high during the early morning, but it will become cooler after the rain. A considerable fall in temperatures will occur Tuesday night, and 7 a. m. Wednesday will be about 56 degrees or 10 degrees lower than Tuesday morning. The winds will be fresh southerly, becoming westerly Wednesday.

GRAND OPERA ORCHESTRA COSTS THE ANSLEY $1,500

At a cost of $1,500 the Hotel Ansley has engaged a sixteen-piece orchestra from New York city to play in conjunction with the Ansley orchestra for the next three weeks, or during grand opera week and the bankers' and Shriners' conventions.

The New York orchestra gave a concert last night at the hotel to an audience of 300 people. Their music this week consists mostly of grand opera selections.

The Ansley also has brought a relay of cooks from Indianapolis as an extra force during this season.

MANY GOOD ATTRACTIONS AT ATHENS CHAUTAUQUA

Athens, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Under canvas, seating 2,000, the Athens chautauqua opened its first session ever held here today, with prospects of a great attendance. It is probably the largest series of events of a similar nature ever planned for a Georgia town. The Redpath bureau is furnishing the talent and the high school of the city is sponsoring the enterprise.

Tuesday's lecturers are Dr. G. R. Wallace, Everett Kemp and Dr. Edward Amherst Ott. Wednesday, Dr. Wallace and Wallace Bruce Amsbary. The musical events of the two days are to be the Welch-Christessen-Baker company, the Harmony Concert company and the Dunbar Bell Ringers and Male quartet; the Ben Greet players appear Wednesday evening in "Twelfth Night," and the rest of the week has even more prominent entertainers and lecturers and companies of musical folk.

SOLID YEAR OF MISERY

After a Solid Year of Misery, Bordering on Hopelessness, a Grateful Change Comes of a Sudden.

Monticello, Ga.—Miss Tommie Bowden, of this town, says: "I suffered for one long year with serious womanly troubles—and it became so bad that I thought no remedy could cure my case.

I was nervous, at times, and had a sick headache so bad, that I could hardly bend over.

I tried two different kinds of medicine but they did me no good.

I then began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I hadn't used it but one day before I felt a great change. I continued taking it, and I know it saved my life. I believe it is worth its weight in gold.

I hope every lady, who suffers from womanly trouble, will try Cardui. I praise it to every lady I meet, and my sister also recommends it as the best of medicines for women."

Do you suffer from any of the numerous ailments so common to women, such as headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc.? Have you that tired, weak, worn-out feeling? If so, we urge you to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has not only relieved thousands of women suffering from serious womanly ailments, but has also been found an excellent tonic for that tired-out feeling.

Get a bottle of Cardui today.

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

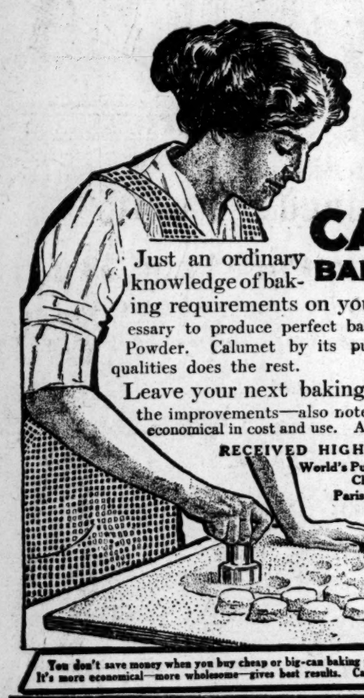

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headache.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. KARSCHNICK, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case.

Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. SHERER, 126 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN IN MOST HANDSOME GOWNS DISTINGUISH THE FIRST NIGHT AT GRAND OPERA

Beautiful Scene at Auditorium Monday Night

Atlanta's crowning glory—her women—did their part in that unison of forces which make the artistic whole of Grand Opera. Their beauty, their brilliancy and their toilets made dazzling the audience greeting the premiere of Atlanta's opera season, 1914.

Every box held a picture of interest and grace; everywhere in the dress circle, in the main body of the house, in the galleries, was there the beauty and the chivalry that gives social life its zest, and the piquancy and interest that "fine feathers" and jewels give an assembly.

Silver-haired ladies in revered black silks, old lace and pearls set in onyx were there. The school girl, still wearing a white gown and blue sash as her best, was there. The debutante, in her first satin gown and corsage bouquet, was there. The smart young matron wore tulle over her shapely shoulders, and her chiffon gown was painted in roses. Apple blossoms adorned the corsage of a veritable Hebe, who wore green silk and tulle, and there were French roses, and gardenias and orchids enough in the bouquets worn and carried to embower the shrine of fairies.

GOVERNOR SLATON'S BOX.

In Governor Slaton's box was Mrs. Slaton, radiantly pretty in a turquoise blue gown brocaded in roses and gold foliage. The corsage of tulle was overlaid in gold lace, and she wore a corsage bouquet of violets. With her was Mrs. William D. Grant, handsome in a black satin with draperies in pointe de Venise lace. With them were Miss Dorothy Hebert, of New Orleans, and Dr. Willis Ragan. Miss Hebert wore white tulle sparkling with silver and crystal sequins, and she carried an armful of American Beauty roses. She was one of the most popular of the debutantes in New Orleans this winter, and was one of the maids of honor at the Comus ball. She is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Morgan, and at the Capital City club afterwards she and Miss Morgan and Miss Margaret Montgomery, of New Orleans, were the honor guests at a supper given by Mr. Paul Octave Hebert and chaperoned by Mrs. Slaton.

Miss Montgomery was the "Queen of Mithras" at the ball given by that organization during Mardi Gras. She is with Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Airey at the Georgian Terrace, and wore white satin and tulle last evening.

COLONEL PEEL'S BOX.

Colonel and Mrs. William Lawson Peel entertained Madame Ober, Mr. Copticus and Mr. Guard, and they had many visitors. Mrs. Peel wore an elegant toilet in white brocade satin. It was trimmed in rose point lace, and she wore pearls and diamonds.

Mrs. Delos Blodgett was the guest of honor in Colonel Ragan's box, and she was visited by many of her Atlanta friends who knew her as Daisy Peck. She was handsomely gowned in white satin brocade embroidered in silver. Her charming young daughter wore white silk and tulle, and Miss Julia Murphy, who with Messrs. James and Ralph Ragan completed the party, wore a dainty toilet in pink chiffon with overdress of white lace.

Mrs. Robert J. Lowry wore her golden wedding gown, a beautiful creation in white satin brocade embroidered in gold. Mrs. E. P. McBurney, her guest, wore white charmeuse brocaded in silver and crystals, and a necklace of diamonds. Mrs. Lawrence D. Tyson, of Knoxville, wore lavender brocade satin. Miss Isabel Tyson, one of the beauties of the assembly, wore white chiffon and lace.

No woman in the assembly was more admired than Mrs. Kenneth Murchison, of New York, who was in the box with her niece, Miss Catherine Ellis. Mr. John D. Little and Mr. Dan McDougald. She wore a Frenchy toilet of flesh-colored satin with draperies of old blue embroidered in silver. Miss Ellis wore white brocade satin, the design defined by pearls and crystals. The corsage was completed by a little jacket of crystals.

Mrs. Kelly Evans was being welcomed by her friends, after her trip abroad. She wore a Parisian toilet of blue taffeta silk, the corsage trimmed in brown tulle. Her jewels were diamonds and emeralds. In the party with her were Mr. Evans, Miss Harriet Calhoun, Miss Virginia Bowman and Mr. Stewart Witham and Mr. Eugene Haynes.

Mr. Frank Munsey was in the box with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman and Mrs. John D. Little. Mrs. Inman was beautifully gowned in white satin with overdress of gold-colored net embroidered in crystals. Mrs. Little's gown was a French creation of white and black tulle embroidered in a butterfly design in crystals and silver.

MRS. RICHARDSON'S BOX.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson entertained their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Barker, and Dr. and Mrs. Westmoreland in their box. Mrs. Barker was beautifully gowned in white brocaded chiffon and point de Flerre lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Winship and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamar, of Macon, had the charming Miss Casey, of California, with them, and their box was the center of bright parties between the acts of the opera. Mrs. Winship's gown was a handsome one, combining white charmeuse and lace and embroidery in silver. Mrs. Lamar wore cloth of gold lisse with overdress of blue embroidered in threads of gold. Miss Casey wore a white satin and tulle gown.

Mrs. Jack Spalding wore a lavender brocade chiffon with trimmings of French lace. Mrs. William Shroeder wore a pink taffeta gown trimmed in chiffon. Mrs. Jack J. Spalding, Jr., was beautifully gowned in white.

Mrs. Francis O'Neill, of Charleston, wore white brocade chiffon. Mrs. Robent Adger Smythe wore a white tulle gown, the corsage finished with a ceinture of pale green, embroidered in silver.

Mrs. Henry S. Jackson wore a beautiful gown in rose colored satin, the corsage embroidered in silver.

Mrs. Edward Alsop was charming in a Parisian gown of white satin with draperies of tulle, the corsage embroidered in crystals, and finished with a touch of blue.

LOVELY MISS CALHOUN.

Miss Harriett Calhoun wore a Frenchy toilet of orchid colored tulle flounced to the waist. The corsage of tulle was trimmed in orchids.

Mrs. J. B. Hockaday wore a gray satin gown with overdress of net embroidered silver sequins.

Mrs. Frank Hawkins wore a becoming toilet in the orchid shades. The skirt of satin had a tunic drapery on tulle of a deeper tone. The corsage of tulle over flesh-colored chiffon was finished with a girdle of orchid color.

Mrs. Frank S. Ellis wore a handsome toilet in white and silver brocade, the corsage embroidered in silver and crystals.

Mrs. Hurcamp wore a white satin gown, draped in black tulle and point d'alique lace.

Mrs. Ella Wright Wilcox wore an ivory colored satin gown with tunic drapery of coral colored chiffon, and shadow lace of cream color showing black threads. The girdle giving finish was of coral color and gold. Her wrap of white embroidered crepe was lined with coral color. Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun's blonde beauty was accentuated by a toilet in black chiffon and tulle, the corsage embroidered in brilliants. Mrs. William Kiser wore a white taffetas gown with airy draperies of tulle embroidered in silver. Mrs. M. K. Armstrong wore a turquoise blue satin gown, with tunic draperies of white chiffon painted in a design of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Alexander Smith wore a black satin gown with corsage of white tulle and crystal embroidery. Mrs. Robert Alston wore a smart gown in jonquil yellow silk combined with chiffon and lace. Mrs. Alexander King wore a white satin gown veiled in black and white lace.

Mrs. James L. Dickey wore a black satin gown of graceful fashion, the corsage of lace over flesh colored chiffon.

PRETTY TOILETS.

Mrs. William Tilt wore a pretty toilet in apricot colored silk with tulle draperies.

Miss Esther Smith wore a pale blue taffeta silk with tulle draperies.

Mrs. Walter Brooks wore a beautiful toilet in lavender silk with draperies of old English lace; her wrap of cream-colored brocade was gold-threaded, and in draped fashion.

Mrs. Frank Inman wore pale pink satin trimmed in gold-threaded net and lace.

Mrs. W. J. Morrison wore white taffeta silk made in Frenchy fashion, finish given in a girdle and sash of white flowered in a Dresden design.

Mrs. John Patterson, of North Carolina, wore a lavender chiffon gown trimmed in lace. Mrs. William T. Newman wore a white lace and satin gown. Mrs. Percy Adams wore a white chiffon cloth gown trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Don A. Pardee wore a pale blue taffeta gown combined artistically with lace.

Mrs. W. D. Manley wore a yellow taffeta, silk-trimmed in shadow lace and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Harry M. Atkinson wore a mignonet green satin with overdress of black thread lace. Miss May Atkinson wore white taffeta, trimmed in black tulle and pink roses.

Mrs. Milton Dargan wore a white charmeuse satin gown, trimmed in black lace and jet. Miss Helen Dargan wore a white brocade charmeuse, the corsage embroidered in crystal.

Mrs. Harry English was receiving a cordial welcome from her many friends. She was becomingly gowned in black tulle embroidered in silver.

Mrs. W. S. Elkin wore a French gown of jonquil yellow satin, the corsage and draperies of tulle embroidered in opal-tinted beads.

Mrs. H. E. Harman wore a white satin gown, the corsage embroidered in crystal. Miss Dorothy Harman wore a white taffeta gown trimmed in midnight blue tulle.

Mrs. Howard Bucknell wore a silver blue satin gown combined with lace, and the corsage embroidered in crystals.

MRS. BLOCK'S COSTUME.

"Gittin' Thar Fustest" Decides the Auto Contest.

A Confederate general with more bluntness than education used to say that battles were won by—

"Gittin' thar fustest, with the mostest men."

That also is the secret of success in The Constitution's free distribution contest of autos, player-pianos, cash prizes.

Getting there first with the most votes, is what counts.

The Constitution is after circulation.

You are after an auto or a player-piano.

It is easy to get subscribers to The Constitution.

It's the only morning newspaper in the field, and it has back of it forty-six years' prestige in having "delivered the goods."

The Constitution means an accurate newspaper to men and women.

That's why working for The Constitution is an easy matter.

But, it will help you a lot to "Git thar fustest."

That Weak Back

accompanied by pain here or there—extreme nervousness—sleeplessness—may be faint spells—or spasms—all are signals of distress for a woman. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood—passing from womanhood to motherhood—or later suffering from that change into middle life which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nervine prescribed for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women.

DR. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

has successfully treated more cases in past forty years than any other known remedy. It can now be had in sugar-coated, tablet form as well as in the liquid. Sold by medicine dealers or trial box by mail on receipt of 50 cents in stamps.

Miss Elizabeth Lordahl of Berkeley, Cal., in a recent letter to Dr. Pierce said: "I was completely broken down in health, I was aching and had pains all over my body and was so nervous that I could scream if anyone talked to me, but I had the good fortune to meet a nurse who had been cured by Dr. Pierce's Prescription. I have never had an occasion to consult a physician since—am in excellent health."

W. F. WESLEY REPLIES TO W. H. ABBOTT

Mr. Abbott said in his card in Sunday's Constitution that those who opposed him politically, and I judge that applied to me, were attempting to place him in an attitude of being against the salary system, was unfair and intended to deceive.

Far be it from me, Mr. Abbott, to treat you unfair, and I am sure that no fair-minded person will say that I have attempted to deceive anyone as to where you stand on the salary system.

I have said in every way that I have advertised for four months (and that has been many) that you was opposed to the salary system and favored the fee system, and I say it again.

And on last Friday evening, at the Inman Yard Park, where you and I both addressed a large gathering of people, I charged you then and there, most positively, as being opposed to the salary system, and you sat there with your mouth closed, like a clam, and never denied the charge that I made—that you was opposed to the salary system.

If I had charged you falsely, why did you not rise in your manhood and say to those good people that you favored the salary system?

No, my dear Mr. Abbott, it's you that are attempting to deceive the people by evading that all important question, the salary system. For you will not say that you favor the salary system, and the people will not vote for you. Mr. Abbott, the boat has left you.

Vote for W. F. Wesley—HE IS A WINNER.

"After Death—What?" is the most baffling of all questions. Dr. James T. Bixby presents some conclusions of striking interest.

Tull C. Waters Tells Why Some of His Colleagues Are Fighting His Re-election

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

In 1913 a ring of three men gained control of the county commission.

They have since administered the affairs of the county by private caucusses.

This ring has paid to the Barber Asphalt company from Fulton's treasury $5 per ton more for that company's material, Trinidad Asphalt, than the market price.

The combination has repeatedly favored the same company at the expense of the taxpayers of the county.

This "little combination in restraint of a business administration" has neglected main thoroughfares in order that roads might be built and improved for the benefit of real estate developments in which only a few are interested.

This ring in its haste and anxiety to serve private interests has on more than one occasion violated the state law, requiring the advertisement of new roads, before the money of the taxpayers is spent upon them.

I have consistently fought this combination.

It has out-voted me, but I have blocked several of its hurtful measures, and have to some extent been able to prevent the flagrant wasting of your tax money.

I have forced the Barber Asphalt company to refund $2,800 wrongfully paid to it by the triumvirate from the treasury of Fulton county.

Two of the members of the combination, Mr. S. B. Turman and Mr. W. T. Winn, have two more years to serve special interests as members of the board of county commissioners.

They and Mr. Shelby Smith, the third member of the triumvirate, whose term expires, are all vigorously opposing my re-election as a member of the board.

The answer to the question "Why?" is obvious.

Every voter in the county can assist in breaking up this combination, which has made the public board meetings a farce, by casting a ballot on May 5th for

Blood Tonic Has Important Meaning

Puts the Right Sort of Vim Where Most Needed.

To tone the blood means to enable it to throw off accumulated impurities, to increase the red corpuscles and to put the blood-making organs into such active condition as to produce that conscious sensation of what we feel as health.

This is the logical effect of using the famous blood purifier, S. S. S.

Half the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant brain, jangled nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervines that spasmodically flare up the nerves only to die down again, as die they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn-out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink; to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

S. S. S. has long been famous as a blood purifier, and its action by elimination of the irritating poisons that infest the blood, is one of the very important things to know.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store, but take no other so-called blood purifier.

S. S. S. is purely a vegetable product, and you will make a great mistake to have some enthusiast palm off a mercury, arsenic or iodide of potash preparation that may do you irreparable harm.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 533 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice. It will be worth your while to do so.

LOCAL ARTISTS' WORK ON VIEW AT LIBRARY

Many Cartoons and Sketches Collected by Miss Wootten at Carnegie Library.

Now that Atlanta has an art salon promoted by one of the most enthusiastic and competent art lovers in the city—Miss Katherine Wootten—Atlantans will have an excellent opportunity to observe the creations of such local celebrities as Gregg, Carter, Brewerton, Henderson and others, as well as numerous cartoonists of national repute.

It will be thrown open to the public this morning on the first floor of the Carnegie library, of which Miss Wootten is chief librarian.

There has seldom ever been an exhibit of more interest than the works that will go on display. Other than the pictures of Atlanta's own artists, there will be seen original sketches by McCutcheon, Fisher, "Ole May," Briggs, Darling, McCay, Goldberg, Webster and numerous others.

There will also be seen various sketches of such big men of affairs as Roosevelt, Wilson, Taft, John Hay and other national figures, which were drawn by Atlanta artists, and which have been autographed with inscriptions by the subjects. The grand opera stars are also liberally cartooned, each sketch bearing autographs and appropriate inscriptions.

The famous sketch of Roosevelt's Platform by Gregg, which received written indorsement from Roosevelt, and which hangs in the National Press club, in Washington, is displayed in original, accompanied by the letter from Roosevelt. Gregg's cartoon of John Hay, with Hay's letter of approval, is also shown.

The display of Brewerton's works will be a distinct feature. His own creations, and those of the famous artists in his possession, will be one of the most conspicuous attractions. A novel phase of his department is a series revealing the evolution of the newspaper cartoon.

P. A. Carter, formerly of The Journal, New York, head of The Georgian's art department, has submitted a number of drawings that vividly portrays this brilliant young artist's graphic execution. A picture recently published dealing with the convict camp scandals, is a depiction of convict brutality that is so realistically cruel that, in itself alone, is a convincing sermon for reform.

HOTEL WAITERS HELP NEGRO Y. M. C. A. FUND

The benefit that the head and side waiters of several of the hotels and clubs gave in the interest of the colored men's branch of the Y. M. C. A. proved to be a success from many points of view. The men were very grateful for the presence and the splendid addresses delivered by Fred Houser, of the Hotel Mens association, and J. F. Letton, manager of the Ansley hotel.

When the reports were made it was found that the M. & M. club led in the amount of the contributions. The following men made reports for their houses: W. G. Clement, for M. & M. club, $22.50; William Ford, for Capital City club, $20.50; William Jordan, for Winecoff hotel, $15; L. R. Gailliard, for Georgian Terrace, $12; Transportation club, by William Smith, $10; Robert Coe, for University club, $5; John T. Manley, for Kimball house, $5; Robert Sale, for Hotel Aragon, $4.70; C. F. Martin, for Piedmont hotel, $1.75 sale of tickets, $6; Abe Morgan, for the Imperial hotel, $1.

Total from hotel men, $103.45.

Friends Pay Tribute To Memory of Girl Killed One Year Ago

Through courtesy of V. O. Rankin and contributing friends, a special car was chartered Monday afternoon and about one hundred friends and relatives of Mary Phagan went to Marietta to hold a memorial service over her grave.

Some two hundred people had already gathered at the grave when the car arrived. The mother of Mary Phagan was present and was deeply impressed by the ceremony.

Many flowers were laid upon the grave. A song and prayer service were held and Rev. Olin King delivered a short talk.

FULTON SUPPLY COMPANY OPENS BUSINESS MAY 10

The Fulton Supply company, a recently organized general mill and machinery supply house, will begin business on or about May 10.

It is composed of George Winship, Jr., president; J. C. Walraven, vice president; J. R. Walraven, secretary and treasurer, and W. M. McDonald, general manager.

Mr. Winship is with the Continental Gin company, and the other gentlemen for many years with the Cotton States Belting and Supply company.

They have long been identified in the general mill and machinery supply business, and have a wide acquaintance in these circles who predict for the new house a flattering success.

This concern is capitalized at $35,000, with the privilege of increasing to $100,000.

They propose to do a wholesale and retail business, carrying a general line of mill and machinery supplies, hose, belting, packing and steam-fitters' supplies.

NAME CONTEST IS WON BY MISS FURSTENBURG

MEMORY OF HOPKINS HONORED BY THE BAR

Simple Ceremonies Mark Memorial in the Georgia Supreme Court.

Simple, yet impressive, ceremonies marked the memorial to the late Judge John Livingston Hopkins, of Atlanta, in the courtroom of the Georgia supreme court, Monday morning. A committee of members representing the Atlanta Bar association, headed by Alex C. King, submitted resolutions eulogizing Judge Hopkins. The resolutions were read by Chairman King, and Judge J. H. Lumpkin responded.

On the bench were seated Chief Justice W. H. Fish, Judge W. T. Newman, of the United States district court; Justices J. H. Lumpkin, Beverly D. Evans, H. Warner Hill, Marcus W. Beck and Samuel C. Atkinson.

Addresses were made by Governor John M. Slaton and prominent members of the bar association.

Chief Justice Fish then ordered that a certified copy of these proceedings be furnished to Judge Hopkins' family, and that they also be published in the official reports of the supreme court.

Thomas Court Convenes.

Thomasville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Thomas superior court reconvened this morning after having adjourned over from Saturday, and the criminal docket was again taken up. Of the cases tried last week, Ed Thomas, a negro, charged with the killing of another negro near Meigs, was convicted of manslaughter. There are quite a number of cases on the docket, and it is probable that court may hold on during the greater part of the week.

JACK DOSCHER IN GREAT FETTLE

Edited By DICK JEMISON

GEORGIA DOWNED BY MARYLANDERS

College Park, Md., April 27.—(Special.)—The baseball team representing the University of Georgia dropped in today and met defeat at the hands of the Marylind Agricultural college by the score of 8 to 4.

Coach Byrd, of the Aggies, sent Derrick, who has heretofore capered in left garden, to the mound, and until the seventh round not a visitor reached second base. Derrick pitched airtight ball for the first six innings, retiring the side on three pitched balls in the third.

In the seventh his support weakened and two successive errors by Shipley and Knode followed by a hit by Holden, allowed a run to slip over the pan.

In the eighth the boys from Athens sent three men over the rubber. Torbert and Ginn hit in succession and Clements was passed after one was down. McWhorter struck out, but Henderson doubled to left center, sending three home. Henderson was thrown out trying to stretch his hit to three sacks.

Fox started for the visitors, but was wild and ineffective, and was relieved by Corley in the third. Three bases on balls, two hits, a sacrifice and a wild pitch netted the Aggies three runs in the opener.

A three-base hit followed by an error gave them another in the third. In the sixth a hit, a hit batsman, a base on balls and poor judgment gave the Aggies three more.

The final run was scored in the seventh, when Mess was safe on an error by Holden, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Dearstyne doubled.

The game was delayed half an hour by failure of the umpire from Washington to arrive and Professor Myron Cresse was finally selected to do the honors.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.

GEORGIA PLAYS TWO GAMES WITH W. & L.

Lexington, Va., April 27.—(Special.) The University of Georgia baseball team, which is on a tour of the South Atlantic states, will arrive here tomorrow morning for two games with the strong Washington and Lee team. The games will be played Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Georgia team has a very good organization this season, and is considered as being one of the strongest contenders for the S. I. A. A. honors this season. Washington and Lee also have an unusually good team this year, and are the most likely champs of the South Atlantic states. Therefore the three games to be played here should all be hummers.

Georgia, after playing Washington and Lee, will go to Raleigh for one game with the North Carolina A. & M., and then to Chapel Hill, N. C., for two games with the University of North Carolina, and will end their road trip there.

Jack Doscher Holds Finns While Crackers Hammer Goulait's Curves Timely

By Dick Jemison.

"Smiling Jack" Doscher was in his very best form Monday afternoon, while his teammates hammered the curves of Goulait hard and timely.

This, in brief, sums up the 5 to 1 victory that the crippled Crackers secured over Mike Finn's Memphis Turties before over 8,000 yelling fanatics Monday afternoon.

There were sufficient fans present to make ground rules necessary, and as is usually the case, they worked against the Crackers, with Hack Eibel being the chief one robbed for the second time this season.

With Welchonce, Holland and Long, three of their regulars, out of the game and playing a pitcher and utility man in the outfield, the Crackers made a very impressive showing. Had the regulars been in there is no telling what the score would have been.

Doscher in Fettle.

Doscher had the Turtles eating out of his hand all the way, allowing but four widely scattered hits. He never ought to have been scored on and would not have been, but a Turtle pulled a bone and got away with it.

Goulait started off like a house afire, fanning five Crackers in the first three innings. He opened with a world of speed and a wonderful curve, but as the game progressed he got weaker and the Crackers got stronger.

McConnell and Reynolds led the Crackers' attack, their hits figuring in all the runs that the Crackers tallied. Ham grabbed a couple of twoply smashes and McConnel three singles.

In the field Morley Jennings contributed a one-handed stab of a line drive right over second base from Coyle's bat that saved a run. Flanagan nalled a liner in right for a pretty catch. Browning played center field very acceptably.

The two twirlers had a busy day in the field and they fielded their positions in jam-up style.

Eibel's three-base hit in the fourth inning went to the center field bank, but ground rules again robbed the first-sacker of a home run, this being the second time this season. Reynolds' two two-baggers were easily triples without ground rules.

How They Scored.

The one Turtle run came in the sixth inning. Allison opened the inning with a single. He advanced to second on an infield out. Stark hit to Jennings, who booted. Never looking up, Allison steamed for the plate. He had hardly turned third when Jennings picked up the ball.

When Morley started to throw, the ball slipped out of his hand and caromed to Lynch at third, letting Allison get away with a suicidal attempt to score, which any kind of a throw would have nipped.

This was absolutely the only chance that the Turtles had, as Doscher had them on his hip all the rest of the way.

Kircher opened the Crackers' fifth with a single, but was forced at second by Lynch. Red swiped second and counted when Reynolds slammed one against the bull in the right field for two cushions, according to the ground rules.

Ham grabs off a new Kelly from the Miller Dismukes Hat company on this wallop, the big catcher picking out a ball on the outside corner and poling it a mile.

Acting Captain Ambrose McConnell sent Ham home with the second tally of the game by slamming a hot one over second.

The other Cracker runs came in the stand-up session. Reynolds opened it with his second double. Doscher laid down a bunt and beat the heave to first. McConnell scored Reynolds with a poke off of Mullen's shins.

Jennings sacrificed them both up a base. Eibel laid down a bunt and beat it out filling the sacks. Browning was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Doscher home. Flanagan hit to Shanley, who touched out Browning, McConnell scoring.

Ladies' Day Today.

Today will be ladies' day at the park. Jap Efird and Joe Dunn will probably be the Crackers' battery, with Smith and Schiel for the Turtles.

Wednesday will be Pop Anson day, when the veteran ball player, who is now appearing at the Forsyth theater in vaudeville, hurls the first ball.

Thursday's game will be called a little earlier to allow the Turtles to catch a train for home.

Willard and Rodel Meet At the Orpheum Tonigh; Winner Fights "Gunner"

TONIGHT'S BOUTS.

Jesse Willard v. "Boer" Rodel, 10 rounds.

Stump Goodwin v. Kid Underwood, 6 rounds.

Battling Kelley v. Kid York, 6 rounds.

Battling Sheppard v. Kid Wonder, 4 rounds.

Billy Hooper v. Kid Davis, 6 rounds.

Jesse Willard, the biggest heavyweight who ever decorated a squared circle with his presence, battles George ("Boer") Rodel, 215 pounds solid, in a ten-round mill at the Orpheum theater tonight. Here are two of the real contenders for the world's championship, and for real action this scrap is expected to be 18-karat.

Two hundred and fifty pounds of Willard has been made a 10 to 8 favorite over the champion of all-Europe. Local "wise" fans figure Willard just a shade the better man, but the South African Boer has plenty of takers whenever any odds are offered by the opposition.

Tonight's battle means much to each man. To the winner goes a scrap with Gunboat Smith here on May 13, which will be the big sporting evening of the Shriners' convention. To the loser its oblivion.

Opera Stars Going.

It being an off night of grand opera, all the big stars will be on hand to witness the bouts. Caruso, Scotti, Dinh Gilly and all the others will occupy the boxes at the ringside. Caruso is a great admirer of Rodel, and it is reported that he has wagered Scotti a new hat that "Boer" will win the decision of Referee Lou Castro.

Besides the main bout, there will be four other top-notch cards. The entertainment will open with a six-round mill between Billy Hooper and Kid Davis, two of our hardest black millers. Hooper has been winning altogether too consistently to suit Davis, and the latter, a bigger man that Billy, is confident that he will stop Hooper.

Next will follow a four-rounder between Battling Sheppard and Kid Wonder, two little fellows, who ought to make matters interesting enough for the most rabid fan.

Good Semi-Windup.

Then Stump Goodwin and Kid Underwood will hold the spotlight in a six-round affair. These lads have battled twice, and on both occasions it was a great slugfest, with honors about even.

Next will follow Kid York and Battling Kelley. These lads never fail to put up the most sensational kind of a bout.

Ringside seats on the stage have been elevated for this mill, so that the fans who sit in the tenth row will be able to see the boxing just as well as those in the front row. Every fan, whether he sits in the balcony, orchestra or ringside, will have his own individual chair.

Tickets are selling fast at the Rex and Tumlin Brothers' stores.

Holland Status the Same; Welchonce Is Improving; Long May Play Today

The status of the Harry Holland case is the same as it was Monday morning. Nothing has been heard from Griffith or Navin during the day.

Griffith has wired Manager Smith that if Navin does not relinquish his claim to Holland, to send him back to Washington.

What disposition Grift will make of Harry remains to be seen, but in view of the way Providence and Navin have acted, they stand mighty little chance of getting the third-sacker.

As Griffin does not have to cut down his squad this season in view of the recent national commission ruling, he will probably carry Holland instead of letting Providence have him.

Harry Welchonce's condition was considerably better Monday morning. The fever is fast breaking and in a day or two if he keeps mending he'll be out walking around, but no playing ball until after the Crackers return from Nashville next week.

Tommy Long's fingers are improving, too, and it is possible that the speed merchant may play today. Tommy was not spiked. His is one of the most peculiar accidents of baseball.

As he was sliding into second base at Chattanooga, the catcher's throw hit the ground right in front of the bag, striking the tips of Long's fingers and driving the nail of two of them into the quick.

The wounds are answering to treatment, however, and it is believed that Tommy will be himself again shortly.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Pels 7, Billikens 1.

New Orleans, April 27.—The locals had no trouble in winning the second of the series from Montgomery today by a score of 7 to 1. McIntyre, a veteran, settled down after Montgomery had secured one run in the first inning. Bunched hits and two errors gave the locals five runs in the second, and Case weakened again in the eighth, two more runs being batted in. Lindsay strained a tendon sliding to second in the fifth, and a shift was made, Hendryx going to third and Northern to right field.

Mobile, Ala., April 27.—Mobile made it two straight over Birmingham by winning this afternoon's game, 3 to 2. Robinson and Robertson both pitched good ball, the latter giving up less hits. After Birmingham had made two runs in the first on a hit batsman, double, single and sacrifice fly, Schmidt tied the score for Mobile in the fifth when he hit over the fence with Miller on base. The winning run was scored on a passed ball.

Two games will be played by the local Prep league this afternoon, and they are as follows:

Tech High v. G. M. A. at G. M. A.
Donald Fraser v. Marist at Marist.

KID YOUNG BEATEN BY BOBBY ROBIDOU

Memphis, Tenn., April 27.—(Special.) Bobby Robidou, local featherweight, knocked out Kid Young, of Atlanta, in the second round of a scheduled eight-round affair tonight. After a tame initial round Robidou tore after Young in the second. He dropped him twice with right uppercuts to the chin in close quarters and a left to the jaw was the finisher. Young did not land a punch, except a few weak left jabs.

HOPPE AND DEMAREST MEET FOR THE CUE TITLE

New York, April 24.—Willie Hoppe, of this city, the world's champion 18.2 and 18.1 balk line billiardist, and Calvin Demarest, of Chicago, are to meet here tomorrow night in a 400-point match which will decide the world's championships at 14.1 balk line play.

These players, by winning tonight their respective games from George Sutton, of Chicago, and Ora Morningstar, of Pittsburg, have clean scores of six victories each in the tournament which has been in progress for the last eight days. The vanquished tomorrow night will take second place. Morningstar, with five games won and two lost, will win third, and George Sutton fourth, with three victories out of seven games played.

Hoppe's defeat of Sutton tonight by 400 to 4 was the most decisive ever registered in a world's series among professional cueists.

The scores of the night games follow:

Hoppe, 400; average, 40; high run, 164, 164, 30.

Sutton, 4; average, 4-10; high runs, 2, 1, 1.

Demarest, 400; average, 16; high runs, 88, 64, 47.

Morningstar, 291; average, 12 3-24; high runs, 56, 43, 34.

The afternoon scores:

H. P. Cline, Philadelphia, 400; average, 17 9-23; high runs, 189, 45, 45.

Jacob Schaefer, Chicago, 154; average, 6 16-23; high runs, 30, 28, 26.

George F. Slosson, New York, 400; average, 16 16-24; high runs, 113, 64, 36.

Koji Yamada, Japan, 292; average, 12 16-23; high runs, 68, 38, 30.

G. M. C. 3, Mercer 2.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—G. M. C. continued her winning streak by defeating Mercer by the score of 3 to 2. Mercer was shut out till the ninth inning, when their first man up made a hit, Gheesling walking the next batter, hitting the next batter, filling the bases; fourth man up got a two-bagger to right field, scoring their only two runs.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.

SALES IRREGULAR IN COTTON MARKET

Near Months Unsettled by Uncertainty as to Effect of May Notices Expected Today.

New York, April 27.—The cotton market was irregular today, with near months unsettled by uncertainty as to the probable extent and effect of the May notices expected tomorrow, while the new crop was relatively quiet and steady owing to reports that heavy rains were delaying new crop work in the southwest and apprehensions that these rains would pass into the eastern belt and be followed by a drop in temperatures. The close was steady, and from 4 to 11 points net higher.

The market showed considerable strength during the early trading, and after opening first at an advance of 6 to 8 points, sold about 11 to 14 points net higher. Houses with Liverpool connections were good buyers of May at the opening, and the advance was encouraged by relatively firm cables as well as by the reports of unfavorable weather. A good deal of realizing was encountered on the advance, however, and the market soon turned easier in consequence. Prominent brokers seemed to have a good deal of May for sale against purchases of July or later months, and while May had increased its premium on the early advance, that month led the subsequent decline, selling back to within 3 points of Saturday's closing prices and to within 3 points of the July price. It was rumored that several thousand bales of May were sold by a Wall street house against purchases of July at a difference of 3 points, with leading spot interests taking the reverse end of the business. New crop positions followed by the near month reaction to the extent of only or 5 points, and closing prices showed rallies of 3 or 4 points from the lows on covering. The talk around the reflected much confusion of opinion as to notice day developments tomorrow. Some traders predicted that the bulk of the local stock would be tendered, others predicted that notices would be issued against only a few thousand bales, and equally conflicting views were circulating as to whether the cotton would be taken up for shipment to southern mills or elsewhere.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, April 27.—On reports of weather in Texas unfavorable to the crop and expectation of heavy tenders on May contracts in New York tomorrow made the cotton market here active at times and put the closing figures 9 to 11 points over final figures Saturday.

Heavy rains in Texas doubtless will cause a great deal of replanting of a crop generally considered at least two weeks late. As the New York stock is down to 86,000 bales, stopping of May notices in any degree would give the market a bullish aspect.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, April 27.—(Special.)—There is a good undertone to the cotton market and it looks very much as if it might be in line for a big advance. Tomorrow is first notice day for May delivery and there was a good deal of switching May into July today. This made May the weakest month and it closed only six up, while other months were nine to eleven up. Backward weather continues in Texas, where there were heavy rains. Liverpool is due to come unchanged to 1½ up.

Coffee started on its downward course today and broke 27 points on heavy receipts and good new crop prospects. Coffee will go much lower.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, April 27.—(Special.)—In anticipation of a more peaceful outlook the Liverpool market was steady at only a small concession. Heavy rains in northern Texas were also considered an injurious factor. All the deliveries advanced some 10 points, excepting May, when scattered liquidation was present during the session. Tomorrow is tender day on Mays and the trade are quite undecided as to who will deliver and who will receive the cotton offered for delivery. We think from now on the condition of the growing crop will be the main factor which will control prices. So many disturbing factors are apparent, of which Mexico is one, that most merchants are waiting for them to develop in such a manner as to admit of clear discussion and reflection. Until then we can only expect minor fluctuations.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, April 27.—(Special.)—Heavy rains in Texas and Oklahoma over the week-end were followed by further complaints from those states as to delayed planting operations which, together with firm cables from Liverpool, advanced this market about 10 points today. Business was not very large, but the demand was sufficient to hold the market steady at all times. Liquidation of May was in evidence owing to the expectation of tenders tomorrow, and while this position lost some of its premium it met with a ready demand. All attention is centered on the likely disposition of the local stock and with the passing of notice day, tomorrow, this feature should be cleared up and a new basis for fresh operations furnished.

Dry Goods.

New York, April 27.—Cotton goods markets were very quiet and yarns were firm today. Raw silk ruled firm. Broad cloths and serges in dress goods were in better demand.

Holiday in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., April 27.—No naval stores, holiday.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, April 27.—Cotton seed oil was active, closing 5 to 8 points net lower. Liquidation of May on prospective big tenders tomorrow, coupled with the weakness in lard, were the depressing factors. There was also considerable switching of May into July and August.

RAIN HAS BEARISH EFFECT ON WHEAT

Market Closed Comparatively Steady at 1-8 to 3-4 Cent Decline—Loss Shown by Other Grains.

Chicago, April 27.—Beneficial rains throughout most of the winter and spring crop belts had much more influence in making the wheat market bearish today than the assumed outlook for peace. The close, which was comparatively steady, showed ⅛@¼ to ¾c net decline. Other leading staples as well as wheat, all finished at a loss—corn ¼@⅜ to ⅝@⅞ oats ⅜@½ to ⅞, and provisions 10@17½ to 25c.

Weather and crop news almost monopolized attention in the wheat pit, especially after trading was fairly under way. Flour speculators, nearly without exception, lined up on the selling side, and so also did a number of commission houses. Another set of brokers, however, had a good many resting orders to buy on a break. The May option in particular received support of this description, seemingly the result of elevator interests taking hold with a rather firm hand.

Except in May wheat, rallies proved of little importance. The effort of world shipments dwindling and of a big decrease in the domestic visible supply seemed to have been discontinued beforehand. It was a somewhat general opinion, too, that nothing in the way of statistics today could have overcome the remarkably bearish prospect for crops.

Corn values ranged lower in sympathy with wheat, and as a result of failure of cash demand to follow the recent upturn. Advices seemed to indicate that the amount of Argentine sales cancelled had been greatly exaggerated and that the torrential rains in Argentina had ceased.

Weakness in corn spread to the oats market, which was also affected by weather favorable for giving the new crop a good start. Cash concerns and shorts were active buyers on the decline.

In the provisions crowd selling by longs and packers made quotations suffer from the start. Ideas of profits from a war bulge seemed for the time being to vanish.

ATLANTA LIVE STOCK MARKET.
(By W. H. White, Jr., of the White Provision Co.)

Good to choice steers, 1,000 to 1,200, $6.50@7.25.

Good steers, 800 to 1,000, $6.25@7.00.

Medium to good steers, 700 to 850, $5.50@6.50.

Good to choice beef cows, 800 to 900, $5.50@6.25.

Medium to good cows, 700 to 750, $5.00@5.75.

Good to choice heifers, 750 to 850, $5.25@6.25.

Medium to good heifers, 650 to 750, $4.50@5.50.

The above represents ruling price of good quality beef cattle. Inferior grades and dairy types selling lower.

Medium to common steers, if fat, $00 to 900, $5.50@6.50.

Medium to common cows, if fat, 700 to 800, $4.50@5.50.

Mixed common, $3.50@4.50.

Good butcher bulls, $4.25@5.25.

Prime hogs, 160 to 200, $8.50@8.65.

Good butcher hogs, 140 to 160, $8.40@8.50.

Good butcher pigs, 100 to 140, $8.25@8.40.

Light pigs, 80 to 100, $8.00@8.25.

Heavy and rough hogs, 200 to 300, $7.50@8.40.

Mast and peanut fattened 1½c to 2c under.

Cattle receipts continue light, market steady and unchanged. While the assortment coming has been running mostly to fed steers for the past several weeks, the commission firms report that the majority feeding in this section have already been marketed and a much lighter run of this class of cattle is expected from now on. Medium cattle continue scarce and in good demand, selling higher than at any time during this season. Trimming cattle are also scarce and in good demand.

Hog receipts moderate and slightly lower in sympathy with the western market. Demand for butcher pigs falling off rapidly on account of the approaching warm weather.

FIDELITY FRUIT AND PRODUCE COMPANY'S LETTER.

The movement of all kinds of vegetables has been good this week. Receipts have been heavy, and market lower, which created an increased demand.

Strawberry receipts have been heavy and market quite a lot lower than last week.

Receipts have been very heavy this week in beans, new potatoes, English peas, squash, lettuce and cucumbers, and the market showed a decided decline. But the demand has naturally increased, and all stock sold as fast as it came, leaving the market in fine shape.

Celery receipts rather light, market advancing.

Tomatoes, the market is clearing up and prices advancing fast, especially on fancy stock.

Asparagus receipts heavy the past two days, forcing the market lower.

Cabbage, market is over-stocked, and selling cheap. Dealers who are connected all over the country say there never was such a crop before.

Apples are moving fairly well at the advance price.

Oranges are selling well this week, although the price is high and market firm.

Grapefruit receipts are liberal and movement good at very satisfactory prices.

Egg receipts light, market firm at quotation. The same is especially true of poultry.

CAPTURE THIS BARGAIN WHILE YOU CAN

ONE WEEK AGO, Whitehall street lot sold for $9,300 a foot—broke all records. Why? Because an enormous change is right now going on this great central street of Atlanta. Solid blocks of remodeling and new buildings and regrading. The big jump in values is ON. Just a few blocks further from the $9,000-a-foot lot, near junction of Forsyth, can sell you 60 feet front, 168 deep to railroad track on rear, for direct contact shipping, for $450 a foot. Part cash. Will jump to $750 or $850 a foot. Capture it and make the profit—while you can. Got to sell it NOW.

A SNOW BALL HAS AS MUCH SHOW—

IN A FIREY FURNACE as a poor man has who tries to buy a home on the north side. I mean every word I say. A man who hasn't over $200 or $300 in CASH, whose salary is from $100 to $150 per month, is acting the—well, he is using BAD JUDGMENT, to say the least of it, if he is trying to buy a $3,000, $4,000 or $5,000 home. But you need not take my advice unless you want to; it makes no difference with me. Out of 100 homes I have sold at Lakewood Heights for the last few years there were only TWO who fell down with their payments. Sold one this week. I have two more bungalows under way on large lots, just off the car line, and they are not BARNS, but BUNGALOWS; go out and take a look at them; get off car at Adair avenue; it will cost you nothing. It might be just what you have been looking for. I don't have to beg anybody to buy my bungalows; there is no use, they sell too fast for that. If you are in earnest and are determined to buy a home that you CAN PAY for, I will be glad to hear from you. Prices $2,100 and $2,200 (the same kind you pay $4,000 for on the north side). Sixteen dollars per month up. Enough said! P. B. Hopkins, 316 Empire Bldg. Ivy 5111.

STARS AND CHORUS ARRIVE FOR OPERA

Frieda Hempel Is the Only Absentee, and She Is Expected Today — Gay Parties at All the Hotels.

Before the sun of the fairest day that has ever greeted grand opera in Atlanta had climbed a great distance Monday morning, 354 members of the Metropolitan Opera company, the highest salaried stars, chattering members of the chorus and ballet, musicians of the orchestra speaking each in a different tongue, burly good natured property men—all came tumbling out of two long trains that had brought them to Atlanta.

The entire company is now in Atlanta with the exception of Frieda Hempel, who arrives tomorrow.

Toscanini, the great orchestra conductor, who directed the orchestra at last night's performance, arrived at noon. Madame Gadski, with her daughter, and Witherspoon, the basso, arrived late Monday afternoon. The others came in early in the morning.

Gadski and Daughter Here.

Gadski and her daughter joined the other singers at the Georgian Terrace. Witherspoon went to the Capital City club, where he will stop during opera week.

Despite the long journey, which ended at 7 o'clock Monday morning, the opera stars did not let fatigue stand in the way of a good time. Shortly after they arrived they were disporting themselves about the Georgian Terrace veranda with all the joyous spirit of children.

As Miss Case said, "With such glorious weather how could one help it?"

Alfred Hertz, famous as an orchestra leader and a cultivator of whiskers, insisted on having his breakfast on the plaza of the hotel, and have it there he did in the merriest fashion.

Indulge in Tango.

Miss Case and Segurola, who, incidentally, is Caruso's keenest rival in the matter of dress, tangoed while the orchestra leader ate his breakfast, with all the zest they would have displayed in a brilliant ballroom with an orchestra in full sway.

Caruso, garbed in the latest fads of fashion, came down rather late, but after he had breakfasted, made up for lost time in the fun and gaiety he had been missing.

And, indeed, all Atlanta and thousands of visitors were quite as gay as the opera stars.

There were gay little parties at all the hotels, and there were automobile rides and sightseeing expeditions in progress from early morning until time to dress for the opera.

The list of visitors to opera this year eclipses anything that past seasons have seen. The hotels are crowded until one can scarcely obtain a room, and there are thousands of out-of-town folks visiting friends at their homes in the city.

THOUSANDS CROWD GREAT AUDITORIUM

flower garden swept by the wind. Jewels flashed from necks as white as snow. Plumes waved. Silks and satins shimmered in a hundred different shades. The air was laden with the buzz of conversation.

Audience Is Thrilled.

And then there was the hush which greeted the first notes of the magnificent orchestra. From that moment forth until the curtain fell on the death scene of the unhappy Manon, the audience was held in thrall by the matchless melody of Caruso, Gilly and Farrar, three of the world's greatest stars.

"Manon" was perfectly produced—matchlessly sung. Caruso was at his best in the romantic role of Des Greiux; Gilly made a splendid Lescaut, and Farrar was all that art could ask as Manon.

In the third act Miss Farrar's acting rose to such tragic heights that she was all but overcome. As she responded to encores and appeared before the curtain she looked ill. It was but the emotion of the moment, and she was soon herself once more.

It was an artistic triumph in every respect—a musical treat which adds another splendid chapter to the history of grand opera in Atlanta.

COL. HALL PREPARES FOR POSSIBLE TROUBLE

In regard to Mexican trouble, Colonel Orville H. Hall, of the Fifth regiment, states that he is following the president's policy in "hoping for the best and trusting in the Lord, but preparing for what may happen."

The officers and medical surgeons of the regiment are detailed to be at the Armory every night this week to take care of recruits. Colonel Hall declares that now is the time to enlist, as those who come in first will be the ones to receive non-commissioned offices. The Fifth regiment especially desires as recruits unmarried men between the ages of 18 and 20 years.

The regiment held a drill last night and over 400 men were present, the majority of whom said that if the call comes to go they would do so willingly.

Company I will encamp Sunday on the rifle range southwest of Fort McPherson, provided the call to the front does not come before that time.

MINISTERS DEPLORE AGITATION FOR WAR

The Evangelical Ministers' association held a dinner Monday afternoon at the Hotel Ansley, about eighty-five members being present. A resolution was passed and wired to President Wilson, earnestly expressing hope that the movement to end the present trouble with Mexico without resorting to the horrible recourses of war, would be successful. Several speeches were made in which the ministers deprecated the agitation of some newspapers to create a war spirit in this country, and declared that the people do not want war.

HUNTER RAINE FREED ON BOND FOR $25,000

Memphis, Tenn., April 27.—C. Hunter Raine, former president of the Mercantile bank, of this city, who is accused of having misappropriated approximately $1,000,000 of the bank's funds, was released from the county jail late today on $25,000 bond. Raine was arrested at the time the bank closed its door last February.

The amount of bail—$25,000—was fixed by Judge J. W. Palmer, of the criminal court, several weeks ago, despite the protest of Z. N. Estes, county attorney general, who contended that the amount was inadequate. The date of trial has not been set.

Settlement has been arranged with depositors and other creditors of the Mercantile bank and the institution is to be reorganized.

Mahoney Found Insane.

New York, April 27.—The commission appointed to inquire into the sanity of Michael P. Mahoney, the aged crank who wounded Corporation Counsel Frank L. Polk in an attempt to kill Mayor Mitchel, today said that Mahoney was suffering from senile dementia and was irresponsible at the time of the shooting. It soon will file a report.

NEARLY LOSES HIS LIFE BY SWALLOWING A TACK

W. L. Coleman Meets With Accident While Nailing Up Window Curtains.

W. L. Coleman, 45 years old, of 313 West Fifth street, swallowed a carpet tack yesterday, and as a result nearly lost his life before the physicians at the Grady hospital could remove it. Dr. Thompson performed the delicate operation.

Mr. Coleman stated that he was nailing up some window curtains at his home, and accidentally swallowed one of the tacks he had placed between his lips.

Coleman experienced practically no pain after the removal of the tack, which had lodged in his throat.

Street Pavement Caves In And Auto Loses One Tire, But Passengers Are Unhurt

When a seven-passenger automobile speedily turned the corner last night about 9 o'clock at the juncture of Edgewood and Piedmont avenues, fully a square yard of pavement fell in as the car passed over a depression in the street.

The rear wheel of the car caught and the tire was demolished, but the machine rebounded from the hole without accident to the occupants of the car. The opening up of the pavement disclosed the fact that the water mains beneath were bursted, and the dirt had packed down under the pipe, leaving no support for the stones above. It is said that the depression in the pavement started about two years ago.

The authorities were notified of the accident and repairs were made last night.

5 MORE SUMMERLINS ARE READY TO DIE FOR HONOR OF FLAG

Willacoochee, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—"My brother, Randolph Summerlin, was killed at Vera Cruz in defense of our country's honor. We favor President Wilson and democratic administration, and Randolph has four brothers and a father who are ready and willing to make the same sacrifice if called upon."

This statement was made here today by L. W. Summerlin, brother of the Georgia marine killed in the occupation of Vera Cruz.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Another foolish objection to savings, made in some quarters, is that the State ought to provide old age pensions and then a man wouldn't need to save.

For the average man to give up all idea of saving on the possibility of the State taking care of him in his old age is as foolish as it would be for him not to work at all because somebody might come along and offer to do his work for him.

Besides, old age is not the only thing for which a man should save. There are opportunities and emergencies in everyday life that he has to meet, and ready cash is the best friend in need.
